

UNITED STATES SAYS VENEZUELA'S OFFER IS FAIR.

HE OFFERED FIVE THOUSAND FOR ONE VOTE IN CONGRESS.

Congressman Would Not Listen to the Offer and Told His Friend to Stop Talking About the Matter.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The charge of attempted bribery made by Congressman Lessler is being heard today. Mr. Dohlin detailed the further connection he said he had with Mr. Quigg. He said: "We talked over the Roberts bill, that I understand is the name of the submarine boat bill. Mr. Quigg was anxious to get Lessler's friendly disposition toward the bill and he said, after talking a while, 'There is $5000 in it.' " "Tell us as near as you can just what he said." "He said he was not personally interested in this thing. He said, 'There is a friend of mine whom I desire to favor if I can. If I can get the aid I want, there will be $5000 in it.' " "Then he said: 'I think I can make it a thousand for you.' " "He said he telephoned me at 3 o'clock and I will let you know about that." "For whom did he say there was $5000 in it?" "The man we were talking about. He said he was the man." "That is Mr. Lessler?" "We were talking about Lessler. He did not use his name. At 3 o'clock I telephoned and was told, 'That will be all right.' " "What occurred when you saw Mr. Lessler?" "He was standing at his desk, looking at his mail and I asked him whether the torpedo boat business was going to come up again. He said it might. I said, 'I was sent for yesterday.' He said, 'By whom?' 'By Mr. Quigg.' I told him just what I— " "What did you tell him? State just what you told him." "I told him, 'There would be $5000 in this for you if you can see your way clear to be friendly toward it.' He kind of said, 'Humph, humph,' and laughed. He threw his papers down and there was no more to it. He said, 'There is nothing in that.' He said, 'Quit.' I tried to talk and he said, 'Quit.' " "And you quit?" "I quit, that is all." "Did you communicate this to Mr. Quigg?"

PIERCE HARDWARE CO. SOLD FOR $100,000.

The Pierce Hardware Company, doing business at 1105 and 1110 Broadway, is to go under a new management. W. V. Wither, who has for several years been the owner and general manager of the corporation, has sold out his interests and will sever his connection with the company entirely. A new company has been incorporated with a number of well known business men as stockholders and directors. It will be known as the Pierce Hardware Company, Incorporated. The new officers are George H. Smith, president and manager; John A. Britton, vice president, and W. F. Williamson, Arthur E. Cordes and Paul Seller, directors. Among the stockholders are some of the best known and most substantial citizens in the business community, including James P. Taylor, J. F. Chandler, F. D. Voorhees, George W. Dornier, J. R. Barnham, P. E. Bowles, Theodore Gier, P. L. McMullin, P. J. McMullin, A. D. Smith, A. Q. Smiley, H. Myer, E. P. Vandercook, John Mitchell and C. H. Redington. The price to be paid for the stock and good will of the business is $100,000, of which $25,000 has been paid down. On February 24th another payment of $25,000 will be made, and on March 25th the balance of $50,000 falls due. Until the latter date Mr. Wither will collect all outstanding bills and pay all demands against the company. Mr. Smith will conduct the business, however, save for this arrangement. When he closes out his interest in the hardware company Mr. Wither will devote his personal attention to a large cattle ranch that he owns in Modoc county. His family will continue to reside in Oakland. The Pierce Hardware Company is the oldest and largest establishment of its kind in the city. It was founded many years ago by former Mayor Charles D. Pierce and his brother, W. Frank Pierce, who conducted it successfully till they sold out. Mr. Wither has disposed of his interest because he has other interests requiring his attention. The new owners are all closely identified with Oakland and will conduct the business along broad and progressive lines. The price to be paid for the stock and good will of the business is $100,000, of which $25,000 has been paid down.

GERMANY NOW TRIES TO DEFEND HER ACTION

Declares That Her Ships Had a Right to Make an Attack on Fort San Carlos—Does Not Like the Attitude of the American Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—An exchange is going on between Great Britain and Venezuela, as represented by Mr. Bowen, respecting the latter's proposal to raise the blockade of the Venezuelan ports as a condition precedent to further negotiations. The British government is showing an amicable spirit in this matter and there was hope of a satisfactory conclusion if Germany can be induced to accept the agreement about to be arrived at between Ambassador Herbert and Minister Bowen. The German government, however, has so far returned no answer to Mr. Bowen's proposition, which fact is the subject of unpleasant comment here. It is learned that the guarantees offered by Minister Bowen are regarded by the United States government as eminently reasonable and sufficient. They include a proposition by President Castro to turn over the entire Venezuelan customs system to the allies for the collection of their indemnity and authorize the allies to place an official in each of the Venezuelan custom houses to make sure that they secure their proper proportion of the receipts. REPORT OF BOMBARDMENT. BERLIN, Jan. 24.—The Foreign Office representatives today in conversation with the representative of the Associated Press referred in aggrieved tones to the American press comments upon the bombardment of Fort San Carlos. One official said: "In view of Commodore Scheder's report, Germany has a just right to feel indignant at the fact that a portion of the American press is aroused over the false statements of what occurred at San Carlos without waiting for the facts in the case, and thereupon attacking a friendly power. "The Panther's action, the official report shows, was strictly within the limits of international law. She was proceeding past the fort to enter the lagoon of Maracaibo, in order to prevent the importation of contraband articles from Colombia, and in doing so was fired upon. "The Panther, of course, answered the fire, as she was entitled to do. The attack was not made by us, but by the Venezuelan fort. "We are quite unable to see why any neutral should express disapproval because the Panther was forced to reply, or because our vessel afterwards levelled the fort, since it was a hindrance to an effective blockade. "The assumption that we want to prevent a settlement of the matter at Washington and the speedy raising of the blockade is wholly mistaken. "We want the blockade to be raised just as soon as the powers have adequate guarantees in hand that their claims will be met. "We do not even ask for the immediate payment of money, but only for guarantees. "We cannot raise the blockade empty-handed without any form of guarantee. "An official dispatch from Willemstad, Curacao, dated January 23, says: "The Vineta arrived in the Gulf of Maracaibo January 21 and approached within 7,300 yards of the shore. At 11 o'clock she began a bombardment, which was continued with an hour of intermission until 3 p. m. The Panther, which was standing by, observed that forty-four shells took effect. "Venezuela's initial proposition to the allies remains unanswered by Germany and the blockade continues. This is the situation in a nutshell today, but it by no means indicates the diplomatic activity in Washington at this time. The feeling is increasing here that unless the blockading squadrons withdraw from Venezuelan waters within a comparatively short time, grave complications may arise. Mr. Bowen lunched with the President today and the Venezuelan matter was under discussion.

LIVELY RESOLUTIONS IN THE ASSEMBLY.

Resolution to Have the Telephone Service Investigated.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 24.—There was barely a quorum present in the Assembly, which convened half an hour late this morning. A fight over the game laws was precipitated when the report of the Committee on Fish and Game, on a number of bills, was received. The committee advised that a number of bills relating to the preservation of game be not passed and that a substitute bill, extending the duck season to February 15th be adopted. Seward and Dougherty were opposed to receiving the report on the ground that the Supervisors of the various counties should be allowed to fix the time, as the conditions in different parts of the State are not the same. Johnson took the lead in the fight for the committee report, which was finally adopted. PUBLIC LAND. The Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds reported favorably on bill 138, providing for an appropriation for purchasing additional lands at Sutter's Fort. Assembly joint resolution No. 4, relative to 7,000,000 acres of public land, was recommended for passage by the Committee on Federal Relations.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS DEATH OF MAN IN LAKESIDE DISTRICT.

Weighted Himself Down and Then Jumped into the Water at the Foot of Jackson Street—Has Not Been Identified.

Low tide today disclosed the head of a man in Lake Merritt, just at the foot of Jackson street and near the steps that lead down from the Schilling residence. Henry Ott, a brother of Street Superintendent Charles Ott, made the discovery and reported the matter to Deputy Coroner Quellan. The body was fully dressed and had been in the water so long that it was badly decomposed. Around the waist was a rope, which was attached to a stone weighing about twenty pounds. The body was removed to Morgue and the clothing searched in the hope of finding some clue by which to identify the man. The pockets contained a knife, pencil, mirror, some newspaper clippings and three photographs. One of these is a man about the build of the deceased and is supposed to be him. The others are of a woman and two children, whose ages are about 3 and 5 years respectively. The woman is about 30 years of age and from all appearances is an Italian. The children also have the appearance of being Italians, while the man would pass for a German professor of music. The newspaper clippings bore the date "October 7, 1902," and were "want ads." That the suicide was deliberate is shown by the condition of the pictures from which all names were scratched, even to the name of the photographer. He wore his hair combed up from his forehead and had a full moustache. Dr. Mehrman, the Coroner, is sure he has seen the man in Oakland and says the face is very familiar. The body has been in the water about three weeks.

EXECUTORS DISPOSE OF PERSONAL PROPERTY

Judge Hall has confirmed the sale of personal property belonging to the estate of the late Herman A. Tubbs. The sales were made by the widow, Mrs. Alice L. Tubbs, and Henry D. Nichols, as executors of the estate. A. W. Moore purchased twenty shares of stock of the California Safe Deposit Company for $250. W. Turnbull paid $1875. Fifty shares of stock of the Contra Costa Water Company were sold to Charles Sutor for $3612.50.

OLD AGE AND WEALTH.

During the year now passing 206 persons have died in England leaving estates valued at more than one-half million dollars each. The amazing fact that six of them were over 90, that fifty had passed 80 years and that the average of all was 73 years is taken to mean that wealth is decided favorable to health and longevity.

Such reasoning is much safer for England than for this country. Probably a large proportion of the fortunate 206 had inherited their wealth and had all their lives enjoyed sufficient food and medical care, leisure and the distractions of travel—these advantages more than counterbalancing the temptation to over-indulgence and the waste of time in "coddling" which much money makes possible.

In this country, also, the average wealthy decedent is quite old, but for different reasons. Other things being equal, the vigorous and long-lived man is more likely than the weak one to "make money" and he has time to make more in 73 years than in 53 or 43.—From the New York World.

TODAY'S NEWS LETTER.

Louis J. Stollman, whose clever stories in the San Francisco News Letter have attracted so much attention, has been selected by that paper as its correspondent during the session of the Legislature in Sacramento, and in today's issue he has a letter brimming with interesting news and gossip. The story this week is contributed by W. O. McGeehan, and is one of his best. There is a good satire in the way of some burlesque dramatic notes. Also there are some genuine dramatic notes in the Look-On department in shape of good stories on local actors and actresses, besides a lot of club and literary gossip. All this, in addition to the paper's financial, insurance, literary, political and society notes and gossip, make it the biggest dime's worth sold in the West.

Mrs. Johanna Soderholm, of Pergus Falls, Minnesota, fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and pained her very much. Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy a bottle of it which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep which she had not done for several days. The son was so much pleased with the relief it gave his mother that he has since recommended it to many others. For sale by Osgood Brothers, Seventh and Broadway.

HAVE SELECTED A RAISING DEBT ON YOUNG MAN IS NEW SITE. HOME. ARRESTED.

PRESBYTERIAN CONGREGATION SEC-
CURES LOT ON SANTA CLARA AND CHESTNUT.

ALAMEDA, Jan. 24.—The congregation of the First Presbyterian Church, at a meeting held last evening, instructed the trustees to complete the purchase of the property at the corner of Santa Clara avenue and Chestnut street, on which an option has been held for several weeks. The meeting was called for the purpose of considering the matter.

After a thorough discussion of the subject, the proposition of purchasing the property was put to a vote and was carried by a two-thirds majority. When the vote was announced, those who had argued against the purchase moved that the action of the congregation be made unanimous.

It is the ultimate intention of the congregation to build a new church on the property, but when this will be undertaken is still unknown. The trustees were instructed to investigate thoroughly the matter of a new church edifice and report back to the congregation. When this report is made the plans for the future will be decided upon.

The lot that is to be purchased belongs to Mrs. Rodenbeck, a former resident of this city, whose home is now in San Francisco. It has a frontage of 100 feet on the north side of Santa Clara avenue and 150 feet on the east side of Chestnut street.

The exterior of the building is practically completed. ## A DINNER GOWN OF POMPADOUR BROCADE.

A handsome dinner gown sent to Washington this week was made of soft flexible pompadour brocade of a delicate rose tint, figured with creamy rose buds and pale green and gold leaves. The bodice was open-fronted and cut down in the neck, with very close elbow sleeves, and with gumples and undersleeves of pale pink chiffon embroidered in colors matching those in the brocade. Fichu folds of the transparent textile draped the top of the low cut bodice, and from the bust were drawn down over the brocade to the waist, where they met a corselet girdle of folded olive velvet. The collar and wristbands of the chiffon undersleeves were overlaid with a delicate passementerie of jewel beads in rose, green, opal and gold. The demitained skirt was finished with a flounce trimmed with satin strappings dotted with beaded sequins.—New York Evening Post.

CONTRIBUTIONS BEING MADE TO ASSIST GIRLS' TRAINING HOME.

ALAMEDA, Jan. 24.—The good people of Alameda are loosening their purse strings, and their contributions to the fund to raise the balance of the debt on the California Girls' Training Home are beginning to come in a satisfactory manner. The Argus office has been appointed by the lady managers of the institution as a depository for contributions. Mrs. J. L. Mundwiler started the ball rolling with a contribution of $5. Others have followed her good example. The fund is growing. To be sure it has not got a fair start yet, but the funds are coming in, and it is to be hoped that the debt of gold for such a worthy purpose will not stop until the necessary amount of $2,500 is raised.

The remaining debt on the building at the West End is $3,500. A thousand dollars of this has been pledged provided the $2,500 is first raised. The debt must be settled by March 15th. The people of the city will not allow it to be by default.

The time and objects of the Girls' Training Home have been explained fully in these columns. Briefly, it is to fit friendless girls for life's duties and to provide them with a good home in the meantime. Who would not contribute to such a worthy cause? The contributions to date are as follows: Mrs. L. Mundwiler, $5; C. A. Chichester, $2.50; C. E. Naylor, $2.50; Mrs. L. G. Planders, $5; F. Zell, $1; Unity Circle, $25; X. Z., $1.50; Mrs. J. J. Konigshofer, $10.

On the envelope in which the latter contribution reached the Argus office was written, "With all good wishes to the success of the California Girls' Training Home."

IF YOU MUST SMOKE WHY DO IT IN PRIVATE.

BERKELEY, Jan. 24.—At a meeting of the students of the Berkeley High School yesterday, Principal James G. Smith, a straight-from-the-shoulder talk to the boys on the subject of smoking, with special reference to the cigarette habit. Of late many of the school boys have taken to smoking, until several complaints have been registered and an effort made to stop the practice. By permission of the School Board, the Women's Christian Temperance Union has sent pledges to be distributed in the various schools. The signing of these pledges to stop smoking is in no way compulsory, but the teachers are using all their influence to urge the students to sign them. It was urged the boys to sign the pledges that Professor James spoke.

"He said in part: 'I do not intend to argue with you the smoking is injurious. Many of you are already addicted to the habit, and have felt its evil effects. Besides, you are all men enough now to judge of those things for yourselves. But I want to speak to you about smoking in public places. Nothing is more disgusting than the odor of dead smoke. It is a nuisance to everyone. I do not like the smell of stale tobacco. Do not smoke in public places. If you are one of the girls and teachers smelling as you do of foul tobacco, is to say the least, not gentlemanly. And I must say boys, when you come into my office you smell like a low Chinaman that has spent the night in a bunk-house. If you must smoke, smoke in private. No law of government or of religion gives you any right to go about blowing tobacco smoke into other people's faces. You would not use a toothbrush or tooth-pick in public—both condemned by the laws of good society. Why then should you smoke in public? Compared with using the brush or toothbrush, yet you would not think of using the latter in public. Don't smoke in public places or on the street. If you must smoke, smoke in your own rooms and smoke a cigar.'

IMPROVED ALBANY.

Repainted, Thoroughly Renovated and Refitted Hostelry.

In keeping with the spirit of the times, F. A. Wilder has had Hotel Albany beautified and refitted. For weeks a force of painters and decorators have been busily engaged with the brush on the interior and exterior of this imposing structure, while the furniture man and the carpet layer have done their part. With the new and standing Hotel Albany may be called a comparatively new hostelry. For the past ten years Mr. Wilder has controlled this house and a five years' lease has been secured from him. Under his able management it has become one of the most successful and widely known hotels in California. He aims to have the Albany supply fully to its patrons the same table and accommodations which would be enjoyed by a wealthy family at home, and that he has succeeded in this respect is attested by some of the most exclusive residents of this city and other places who, when traveling, are satisfied with only the best which the market affords. The location of the Albany, Fifteenth and Broadway, near the principal theaters, City Hall, Postoffice and banks, makes it a very desirable place of abode. Its one hundred rooms, which have been so thoroughly renovated and refurnished are sunny, single or suite, supplied with hot and cold water and electric call bells. Porcelain-baths adorn many of the rooms, an elevator carries up to late accommodations are at the disposal of guests, at rates which are remarkably low when one considers what the same accommodations cost elsewhere. The rates are from $1 to $3 per day.

Mr. Wilder is thoroughly experienced in every detail of hotel management, and the fits and comfort of his guests are carefully looked after and have his personal supervision. Hotel Albany is a thoroughly home-like hotel and enjoys an excellent patronage.

WILLIAM ATKINS DISTURBS THE PEACE OF A CIGAR DEALER.

ALAMEDA, Jan. 24.—Luder Hopkens, who conducts a cigar stand at Webster street and Santa Clara avenue, swore to a complaint yesterday morning before Justice Cone charging William Atkins Jr. with disturbing the peace. It is claimed that Atkins is a member of a gang of young men who make the corner of Santa Clara avenue and Webster street their headquarters, and whose conduct has been extremely offensive. There have been many complaints lodged with the police against the gang, but the officers state that when they went to investigate their actions they could find no one willing to swear to a complaint against them.

Hopkens asserted that his life has been made miserable by Atkins, whom he has ordered on several occasions to keep away from his place. Atkins insisted upon coming in last evening, and when Hopkens ordered him away he tore the door off the gas meter case and threw it into the street. When Hopkens remonstrated he applied some very harsh language to the cigar dealer.

The warrant for Atkins' arrest has been placed in the hands of Police Detective Brown.

The young man was arrested yesterday morning and pleaded not guilty. His trial was set for Monday morning at 10 o'clock. He was dismissed on his own recognizance.

Optical Education

Times have changed and are changing, people no longer buy their glasses over the counter, nor from quack peddlers. Our knowledge of optics has been gained by actual attendance in a recognized optical college—our two diploma show that, and our experience and success speaks for the rest. We test the eyes and grind the lenses. Let us serve you.

OAKLAND TRIBUNE
Tribune Publishing Company William E. Dargie, President
SENATORIAL DIVISION.

The Los Angeles Express, which seems to know, says that Henry T. Oxnard will be a candidate for United States Senator to succeed Hon. Thomas R. Bard, who has announced that he will be a candidate himself. U. S. Grant Jr. is also beating the woods for votes. So that makes three candidates from the South of Tehachapi, with other prospects to hear from. It has been whispered around that former Governor Gage has an itching to get into the fight, and there are rumors that Congressman McLaughlin and Congressman-lect Paulsen both have their ears to the ground.

All these candidates and would-be candidates take it for granted that Senator Bard's successor must come from their section of the State. They ignore all Northern California, overlooking the fact that the whole great region north of San Francisco bay has not had a Senator since Newton Booth. Senators Stanford, Casserly, Hager, Hearst, Miller and Williams all hailed from San Francisco.

When Stanford and Hearst sat in the Senate together San Francisco had both the Senators. Since their passing, the orange patch south of Tehachapi has had two Senators—White and Bard—while the remainder of the State has had only Perkins. Our southern friends ought to remember that the Senatorships are not matters of geographical distribution, but are allotted generally because of the eminence and fitness of the gentlemen invested with the Senatorial toga. But even admitting that geography is a controlling factor, the region south of Tehachapi has had its share for the present. It is time for the Senatorial lightning to send a bolt in some other direction, especially as there is not one of the job lot of candidates named who rises to Senatorial stature.

LEGISLATIVE GRABS.

Although Governor Pardee has cautioned the Legislature regarding the necessity of rigid economy, owing to the last tax levy being too small for the revenue required, members continue to present appropriation bills for objects of doubtful expediency or of no urgency whatever. All the smaller State institutions, especially those of secondary utility, are clamoring for appropriations for special purposes. It seems to be taken for granted that this session is to be a sort of grab bag affair, despite the Governor's plain warning.

It is hardly worth while to particularize the several schemes for spending money on objects of no special urgency, but the bill presented by Senator Seligson of Humboldt appropriating $40,000 for draining a frog pond or marsh up in the shingle belt is so flagrant an attempt to get money out of the treasury on any old pretext that it stands out like a promontory in the waste of appropriation bills.

The Tribune is in favor of liberal appropriations, as a rule, for needed public purposes because it has never subscribed to the theory that cheese-paring is a sound financial policy, but favoring liberal appropriations for necessary and useful objects does not imply favoring waste or expenditures not warranted by exigency or public policy. Draining a tamarack swamp is not a matter of urgency. Besides the State is a little hard up and has other uses for its money.

Chester I. Long, who has just been elected Senator from Kansas, won his prominence in politics by defeating Jerry Simpson, the Stockless Socrates of Medicine Lodge. Simpson was the great war horse of Kansas Populism. He fiercely denounced the luxuries and oppressions of the money barons, but when his constituents learned that he sported barber pole socks and feasted on boiled oysters in Washington they repudiated him as a false prophet. Being without honor in his own country, Jerry shook the dust of Medicine Lodge off his feet and pitched his tent in New Mexico. Since then he has abjured Populism, sticks to socks and has accumulated a band of fine cattle. As he can readily sell a range steer for $40 on the hoof, Jerry has no further desire to quarrel with the exactions of the money monopolists. He finds his condition better than his theory.

Assemblyman McKinney's bill to prohibit inmates of penal institutions from making any article for any State officer or employe will put an end to a long standing abuse that has been productive of numerous scandals and much friction at the prisons. It is a measure that the late Warden Aull warmly advocated as promotive of better discipline and better government for the prisons.

There is a general belief that taking away Binger Herman's peacock feather as Commissioner of the Land Office will result in more standing timber being left on the public domain. It is also believed that there will be less fencing up of government land by the cattle barons.

A MATTER OF NECESSITY.

A bill to appropriate $100,000 to defray the cost of stamping out the bubonic plague in San Francisco has been introduced in the Legislature, and the Chronicle strongly objects to it on two grounds: First, that there is no bubonic plague in San Francisco, and second, that the money will be spent whether it is needed or not. Of course if there is no plague there is nothing to stamp out and no need to appropriate or spend money. But if there is plague in San Francisco it ought to be stamped at all hazards. Not only ought it to be stamped out, but the outside world should be convinced that it has been stamped out.

It is worth ten times $100,000 to prove to the world that San Francisco is free from plague. The Chronicle's second objection is pointless because it can be urged that any appropriation will be spent whether it is needed or not.

The facts are simple. The outside world believes that bubonic plague exists in San Francisco. The highest medical authorities of the United States Army and Navy and the quarantine service say that it does. A conference of health officers of fifteen States has just declared that it is there. All the foreign consuls have reported to their governments that deaths from plague are occurring from time to time in the city.

Whether it pestilence exists or not, is ancillary to the belief. That is what we have got to deal with. This is not a matter to settle for ourselves. We cannot say there is no plague and let it go at that. The outside world persists in treating us as if the plague did exist.

If there be error, we must prove it. If there is plague, we must eradicate it. Mere denial, accompanied by inaction, threatens grave complications that endanger the commercial prestige of San Francisco and the State's welfare. These complications are made all the more threatening by the outbreak of plague in malignant form in the Mexican ports on the Gulf of California.

What is $100,000 weighed against the enormous damage that would result from a general quarantine being declared against San Francisco? We are face to face with a condition. For our own protection, we must clean up and show up, and quit playing the ostrich. Let us be done with the policy of concealment and suppression, and calling names. It is childish and unbelievable that scores of reputable physicians should keep on deliberately manufacturing evidences of plague to bolster up a mistaken diagnosis. The San Francisco Board of Health made a grave—almost criminal—mistake in creating a plague scare, but it was evidently an honest mistake. If the board made a mistake in diagnosing another disease not malignantly potential in character for true bubonic plague, the mistake has been repeated by dozens of other physicians. At any rate, our business interests as well as the public safety demand the most searching and public scrutiny into the whole business. Let us get at the truth, and deal with it as becomes men of sense and candor. Turn on the light. Lay the facts before the public in such a way as to carry conviction. And it may as well be stated at once that the interested clamor of pawnbrokers, hotel keepers and hackmen will not be accepted as a scientific demonstration on the plague question.

Let the money be appropriated and a thorough investigation be had under the direct supervision of the Federal medical authorities.

INCREASE JUDICIAL SALARIES.

The proposed constitutional amendment authorizing an increase in the salaries of Supreme and Superior Judges should be adopted. We agree with the belief of the Examiner that we will get no better class of judges than we have now by increasing salaries, for the bench is but a reflection of the standards of the bar; but an increase in the pay of the judiciary is in the nature of a just demand for adequate compensation.

It is a poor lawyer who cannot make more in the practice of his profession than the $4,000 a year a Superior Judge receives, and with ordinary prudence, rectitude and ability the lay member of the bar can go on increasing his practice and enlarging the emoluments of his business. To each one there is always the prospect of getting a case that will pay them more than the salary of a Superior Judge for the whole of his six year term.

The salary of $6,000 a year paid Supreme Judges is miserably and insufficient. Second rate practitioners make that much and more in ordinary practice. Many of the leading attorneys receive regular retainings fees of equal amount from large interests. Yet a Supreme Judge should be the pick of the bar in ability, learning and purity of character. The compensation is insignificant compared to the requirements. A police justice in New York city is paid as much as the Chief Justice of California. John Garber resigned from the Supreme Bench in Nevada because he was offered a similar fee that equaled the total salary he would have received for the four unexpired years of his term. Before the expiration of the term for which he was elected he was engaged in another case that brought him $50,000. The associates of Judge Garber who remained on the bench are poor; Judge Garber is rich.

Many of the ablest jurists in the State decline judicial positions because of the inadequate compensation. Because others are willing to take upon themselves the duties of judicial office for the honor rather than the salary, is no reason why the State should not pay a reasonable compensation for the best and most necessary service that can be rendered it.

CANAL TREATY SIGNED.

The whole country will breathe a sigh of relief now that the Panama canal treaty has been signed. It is a foregone conclusion that it will be ratified by both countries. This insures the completion of the canal commenced by de Lesseps, with such modifications as the American engineers shall decide upon. The treaty clears away the last great obstacle to the project of connecting the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans, and makes securer than ever the position of the United States as the dominating power of this hemisphere.

It will be another great triumph for the Republican party, which freed the slave, preserved the Union, abolished polygamy and connected the oceans with a railroad; and which latterly freed Cuba and gave the United States first place among industrial nations.

Ex-Governor James Hogg of Texas, has become the largest cabbage grower in the State. Last year he raised 180,000 heads, not including the head of the family. By the way, since Hogg has gone into raising cabbage he has quit raising hell.

Suggestions to the Housewife

Apples, like tomatoes, can be more quickly and easily peeled by pouring boiling water over them and allowing them to stand in the water five minutes.

Furniture brushes are an essential article of a household outfit. A soft clothes brush is the best for silk or plush furniture, as it does not fray the fabric like a whisk broom.

One-half of an egg will clear the coffee for a family of five or six as well as a whole egg. Beat the egg and add an equal quantity of water. Mix this with the amount of coffee required for one meal and pour the boiling water over it.

Gilded china is now fashionable, and the careful housekeeper should see to it that her maid does not use soda in any form in the water in which she washes it. Soda is cleansing but it takes off the glazing, and china of this sort is best washed in hot soap suds.

Provident housewives never for a moment consider buying dust cloths, for there is always some garment being discarded that can be used for this purpose—soft silk petticoats, old silk pocket handkerchiefs, for example. If dust cloths have to be bought, cheese-cloth is the best material for the purpose. Three-quarters of a yard is ample for each cloth. Naturally they should be hemmed, as should also the silk ones.

In these days when hardwood floors are in such general use, broom bags form an important accessory of a housewife's closet. Heavy cotton flannel is most suitable for them, or any old flannel garments can be employed to make them, especially the old-down variety. They should be sewed down on the sides, the top hemmed and a tape sewed securely on one side. It should be long enough to go around the handle of the broom several times.

Some women do not seem to know that they make a mistake when they wrap up parcels—that is, parcels of clothes or fabrics of any kind—in white paper. The white paper no doubt looks neat and attractive, but it happens to have been bleached with chloride of lime, and this is so strong that it will ruin the fabric which lies for any length of time against it. The most suitable paper for the purpose is the stout brown or blue not so commonly used, but strong and without any harmful chemical properties.

WHAT LITTLE GIRLS CAN DO.

Before a girl is 12 there are many things she should be able to do. Can you and do you do them? Keep your own room in tasteful order. Never let a button stay off 24 hours. Always know where your things are. Never let the sun set without doing something to make some one happy. Never fidget or hum so as to disturb others. Never fuss or fret. Never go about with your shoes untied or minus your collar. Have an hour for rising and rise. Learn to make bread as well as cake. Speak clearly so that every one may understand you. Learn how to enter and leave a room and how to close a door softly. These are little things, but they "tell," American Queen.

Chips From Other Blocks.

Lieut.-Gov. Tillman's complaint that he has been "grossly misrepresented" should be heeded. All that he did was to shoot a man down in cold blood. Let it go at that. Efforts to exaggerate or color the truth will be very wrong.—Chicago News.

According to Assemblyman Greer, citizenship, virtue, and communal and State morality consist merely in not looting except when "the lively stables, groceries, saloons, and all branches of trade profit by it." In that case the bigger the boulder the greater the public benefactor.—Sacramento Bee.

Agulnaldo's pretty banking scheme for the Philippines, whereby he and his associates were to be permitted to make themselves rich on Uncle Sam's credit, makes interesting reading, but would be very poor business.—Fresno Republican.

In Joplin the telephone girls went out on a strike, their chief grievance being that the superintendent called them pet names. If Joplin had the kind of service that Kansas City is obliged to put up with, this friendly disposition of the superintendent would probably be offset by the epithets of the subscribers.—Kansas City Star.

Hetty Green has been called "stingy" because she refuses, so another woman alleges, to return a sofa and chair borrowed while her late husband was sick. Hetty certainly does know how to hang on to things, which accounts for her wealth.—Chicago Post.

One of the members of the coal strike commission was recently compelled to hurry home in order to scrape up enough coal to last the week out in his own family. It would seem that the taking of testimony is something of a superfluity.—Denver News.

Germany and England are at odds over the idea of passing Russia torpedo boats through the Dardanelles, though unarmed. Britain opposes and Germany does not. The alliance of the two governments is becoming attenuated.—Buffalo News.

Here is a subject for the accomplished linguists of the best diplomatic circles. Germany announces that the Allgemeine Elektrizitats Gesellschaft has been united with the Union Elektrizitats Gesellschaft.—Kansas City Star.

Senator Hoar's belief that the effect of conscription has so far been confined to apprehension and alarm and has not extended to serious injury provokes an inquiry as to who pays his meat bills.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

CINCH BILLS AND LOBBYISTS.

The Oakland "Tribune" says that a variety of old familiar "shake-down" and cinch measures are to pop up at the present session of the Legislature; that some of these are to come to the front in the robes of reform, but that they all require that somebody should come around and "see the captain." We trust that the "Tribune" is misinformed, but if it is not we shall not be surprised. It is one of the characteristics of American Legislatures that it is made, despite itself, the vehicle of fraud, greed and dishonesty. The legislator cannot expect to escape the lobbyist, for there are lobbyists and lobbyists. Some of them are legitimately employed and philanthropically prompted; there are persons who are laboring in the lobby in the interests of good, and there are others there whose sole aim and purpose is self-aggrandizement and the accomplishment of indecent ends. The legislator has to distinguish between these, and he is the most skilled and best serves the State who is able to turn down successfully and firmly the cinch bill promoter and the selfish advocate, while giving cordial hearing and kindly attention to the promoter of worthy schemes.—Sacramento Record-Union.

Lexington, Me., is subjected to a periodical overhauling by special liquor deputies. A waitress at a hotel had been complained of for selling liquor. They searched her room, but found nothing. The woman herself was searched, however, and a bottle of beer found in each stocking.

Perhaps the most remarkable instance of the nicety of calculation employed in modern manufacturing is that of the Cambria steel company of Johnstown, Pa., which recently completed 800 steel cars for the West Virginia Central railroad without having a single piece of material of any kind left over.

Squash as a game seems to be slowly but surely coming into favor. Its increase in popularity was noticed a year ago, but a good many temporarily forsake the game for the ping-pong craze. THE BARRING O' THE DOOR.
It fell about the Martinmas time,
And a gay time it was then,
When our gudewife got puddings to make,
And she boiled them in the pan.
The wind saw could blew east and north,
It blew into the floor;
Quoth our guddamen to our gudwife,
"Gae out and bar the door!"
"My hand is in my huswif's kap,
Gudeman, as you may see;
An' it should nae be barred this hundred year,
It's no be barred for me."
They made a paction 'tween them twa,
They made it firm and sure,
That the first word whae'er should speak
Should rise and bar the door.
Then by there came twa gentlemen
At twelve o'clock at night;
And they could neither see house nor hall,
Nor coal nor candle light.
And first they ate the white puddings,
And they then ate the black;
Though muckle thought the gudewife to herself,
Yet ne'er a word she spak.
Then said the one unto the other,
"Horo, man, tak' ye my knife!
Do ye tak' aff the auld man's beard,
And I'll kiss the gudewife."
"But there's nae water in the house,
And what shall we do then?"
"What ails ye of the puddin' broo?
That holla into the pan?"
O, then up started our guddeman,
And an angry man was he;
"Will ye kiss my gudewife before my een,
And send me wi' puddin' bree?"
Then up and started our gudewife,
Gled three skips on the floor;
"Gudeman, ye've spoken the foremost word—
Get up and bar the door!"

"Now," said Balwin, as they emerged from the saloon with the quartette and he resumed the consideration of the subject they had been talking about previously, "in the next place—"

CURED WHEN OTHERS FAILED
MRS. FRANCES MITCHELL.
Secretary, North Chicago Frauen Verein, 1056 Winnemac Ave., Chicago, Ill. says
Chicago, Ill., 1056 Winnemac Avenue, Oct. 25, 1902.
Wine of Cardui can always be relied upon to cure when everything else fails. It is a certain cure for female diseases in their worst forms. I suffered for years with ulceration. Intense pains in the womb and ovaries and dreadful headaches untended me for my work. Finally I grew so ill that I had to keep to my bed. The pains were so intense at times as to cause spasms and a disagreeable discharge drained my life forces. In my extremity all else had failed. I tried Wine of Cardui. After using it for two weeks I began to improve so rapidly that I felt encouraged to keep up the treatment, which I did for sixteen weeks, but at the end of that time I was entirely cured. What a relief was mine and how now and beautiful life looked to me when my health was restored. Only those who have passed through such a siege of sickness as I have will understand how much a value Wine of Cardui. It is indeed a boon to sick women.
Fully 1,500,000 afflicted American women have been cured of female diseases in the privacy of their homes by Wine of Cardui and everyone of them would give it the same praise Mrs. Mitchell gives.
Every weak woman needs Wine of Cardui. What better present could be taken to a suffering relative or friend than a bottle of this great medicine? That is the quickest and most satisfactory way to bring joy to the despondent sufferers in your home—to really make your loved ones happy. Can you read Mrs. Mitchell's letter without feeling your responsibility to the sufferers in your home? Wine of Cardui cures disordered and painful menstruation, periodical headaches, falling of the womb and leucorrhoea. It cures extreme cases of these troubles. It strengthens girls approaching womanhood, helps bring children to barren homes, makes pregnancy and childbirth easier, prevents miscarriages and is the best medicine ever made for use during the change of life. Why permit the good women in your home to suffer another day? Every druggist has $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

UNION MEN ARE OUR SULTAN IS ON TRIAL FOR CONSPIRACY.

IT IS ALLEGED THEY PLANNED TO SLUG NON-UNION MEN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Four of the six brass moulders on trial for conspiracy to injure non-union men during the labor troubles of 1902 were found guilty today. They are Jacob C. Johnson, W. H. Maughan, both of whom were sentenced to pay a fine of $1,250; Gus Hopp and Thomas Christy, fined $750 each. William Maloney and Gus Johnson were acquitted.

The six men were members of a local brass moulders' union and constituted a secret executive committee, alleged to have been appointed for the purpose of employing a band of men to slug and otherwise injure certain non-union men, who were pointed out by pickets. As a result two men were shot and several severely beaten.

FEARED TIDAL WAVE AND FLED TO HILLS.

Assistant Secretary R. B. S. York of the Board of Education is authority for the statement that many people have taken to the Berkeley hills today to escape the predicted flood that was to have occurred at 10:30 this morning.

He says that the Telegraph avenue cars were crowded all morning with people who were seeking places of safety in tall timber.

He Will Visit the St. Louis Exposition When It Opens.

MANILA, Jan. 24.—The Sultan of Jolo has announced his intention to visit the St. Louis Exposition.

He will be accompanied by a native retinue.

It was erroneously announced that the Sultan had died of cholera. It was the Sultana of Jolo, his mother, who died at that time.

SHARPER FORFEITS HEAVY BAIL.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—James Johnson, held for complicity in the robbery of A. J. Sheridan, a Nebraska tourist, who was relieved of $1,000 in negotiable checks by a trio of sharpers about two weeks ago, has forfeited his bail of $500 cash and disappeared. His bail has been increased to $5,000 and a bench warrant issued for his arrest.

THEY WILL TALK ABOUT FUSION.

It is stated that a committee of the Municipal League will meet a committee of the Union Labor party tonight to talk over fusion.

Edward Extends the Glad Hand to Germany.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The invitation extended by King Edward to the German Ambassador here, Count Wolff-Metternich, to dine at Windsor Castle next Tuesday, Emperor William's birthday, has aroused considerable interest.

It is the first time that Emperor William's birthday has been formally observed by the British court, and therefore the King's action has given much satisfaction at Berlin, where it is regarded as emphasizing the friendship between the two countries.

RESOLUTIONS IN THE ASSEMBLY

by the public and users of their telephone and telegraph lines, and there is an imperative demand and, wholly some necessity for investigation of the affairs and plants of said corporation, in order that the citizens of this State may be protected in their rights; therefore be it

Resolved, That a select committee of five members of the Assembly be appointed by the Speaker to immediately and fully, thoroughly and carefully investigate the plants, apparatus and affairs of the said corporation, and the complaints of the public arising from lack of service, and report its findings and recommendations to this House, to the end that the business world and public generally may receive service for value given, and that the said committee be authorized to hold sittings in the cities of San Francisco, Los Angeles, and not exceeding three other places in the State, and that it be authorized to have full power to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths, take testimony, send for persons, books and papers; that a clerk, stenographer, and sergeant-at-arms be assigned to said committee; that said committee have leave to sit during sessions of the Assembly together with such other powers as shall be necessary for the full performance of the duties.

An adjournment was taken by the Assembly until 11 o'clock Monday morning.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION

On February 1 the United States Civil Service Commission will hold an examination for the position of stenographer and typewriter in the United States and Philippine services.

The examination will be held in different cities throughout the United States, and San Francisco will be the only city on this coast where the examination will be held.

The applicant must be over twenty years of age to enter the United States service or between eighteen and forty years of age to qualify for the Philippine service.

The salaries will range from $840 to $1,200 per annum.

The examination will consist of tests in arithmetic, penmanship, tabulating and stenography and typewriting.

The examination is very fresh and citizens of the United States who comply with the requirements.

CHANGE IN TIME OF STOCKTON LOCAL.

A slight change has been made in the time of the Stockton local on the Santa Fe line and instead of leaving San Francisco at 4:20 it will leave at 4:00 o'clock. This will make a change of twenty minutes at Richmond, as this train will now leave there at 4:55. The change goes into effect tomorrow.

COFFEE HEART.

The "Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette," a famous authority, said in a recent issue: "Medical examiners for life insurance companies have added the term 'Coffee Heart' to their regular classification of the functional derangements of that organ. Its effect is in shortening the long beat of the heart, 'Coffee Tapers,' they say, are plentiful and as much tied to their cups as the whiskey tapper. The effect of coffee upon the heart is more lasting and consequently worse than that of liquor."

A well known physician specialist of Ludoga, Indiana, tells how he treats such cases. He has had many such. He says: "I will mention one case in my practice—Mrs. H., age 54, very nervous, had history good, had been for more than three years a constant sufferer from headache, heart trouble and smothering spells, accompanied by nervousness. Had to lie down when attacked by these got worse."

"I soon found out that she had 'coffee heart' and promptly cured her in this way: I forbade her coffee and put her on Postum Cereal Coffee instead. She reported in five weeks and said she had not had a bad spell since and felt sound and well. This was four years ago and she is now a picture of perfect health and happiness."

"This is only one case out of many. I knew the Doctor's bills would be small but I also knew the cure would bring lots of others to me. Few people realize the great value of Postum. It is not a 'cure-all' but it has been the means of relief to perhaps more people than any one thing ever introduced in the American bill of fare. I have seen some wonderful results from its use." Name given by Postum Company, Battle Creek, Michigan.

DISSOLUTION OF WELL KNOWN FIRM.

Elsewhere in the advertising columns of THE TRIBUNE will be seen the announcement of the Metropolitan Furniture Company, in which it will be seen that the reliable firm of Humphred Brothers will dissolve partnership. Mr. Frank Humphred will retire, while J. W. Humphred will continue.

The business of the Metropolitan Furniture Company has grown very rapidly in the past three years, during which time they have moved into large and convenient quarters on Twelfth street, adjoining the Y. M. C. A. building.

During the next ten days there will be great reductions in furniture, preparatory to the succession of Mr. J. W. Humphred to the sole management.

MAJOR GLENN WILL BE ACQUITTED.

The Court Martial Will Find Him Not Guilty on Charge of Killing Prisoners of War.

MANILA, Jan. 24.—The arguments in the trial by court martial of Major Edward F. Glenn, charged with unlawfully killing prisoners of war, were heard today and the court submitted a verdict which was believed to be an acquittal, although the finding was not announced.

Major Glenn, at the opening of the proceedings, read an extended argument, devoted to conditions in the island of Samar and justification of the measures taken to end the insurrection. He quoted many war precedents and authorities on the laws of war.

Major Glenn read the argument, which counsel for the defense had jointly prepared, contending that the men killed in

TELLS ABOUT THE TELEPHONE.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 24.—When asked for an explanation of his views upon the resolution offered by him today, Assemblyman Stanton said:

"The villainous and absolutely worthless service, or rather alleged service, rendered by the Sunset Telephone and Telegraph Company to the people of Los Angeles and the almost unanimous complaints of the patrons of that company in that city as voiced through the public press and personal complaints, together with the absolute indifference of the officials of the company to such complaints, was my incentive in introducing the resolution to investigate the affairs of that company for the purpose of making such recommendations as might tend to give the people, not only of Los Angeles, but of the whole State, reasonable services for the tolls exacted, and to attempt to make the said company either give such service or show a reason for not so doing. It is a matter of public notoriety that this company instead of being a convenience to the business world, is an absolute detriment. I trust that my own standing in the business world is sufficient guarantee that this measure was introduced with the sole motive and purpose to carry out the intent of the resolution. I shall fight for both in the committee on corporations, to whom it was referred and of which I am a member as well as on the floor of the House, and shall use every endeavor to have it adopted."

When interviewed regarding the Stagnation of the Sunset Telephone and Telegraph Company, Assemblyman Allen, chairman of the Committee on Corporations, to whom the measure was referred, said that he could make no conjectures as to that the report of the committee would be.

COHEN COMPANY BEATS ALL OTHERS.

The firm of A. S. Cohen Co. is never contented with being "just as good" as anybody else, it wants everything it does or sells, to be just a little better than that of their most successful competitors. It is this ambition which has led them to study their business from beginning to end.

The A. S. Cohen Company has done a good deal towards improving the standard of dress for men in this locality. They have studied with marked success how to produce the highest grade of clothes at the most reasonable prices, and their sincerity and uprightness, have won for them a large and steadily growing clientele. When any new idea is born in the Eastern centers of fashion, it is always makes it a point of obtaining it.

The cutting department of the A. S. Cohen Company is in charge of Mr. Gus Cohen, Mr. Charles Bach and Mr. A. Jacobs—all experts in their line.

The A. S. Cohen Company employs none but the best Union help. Their business is rapidly increasing, and the large stock of new and exclusive Spring patterns in up-to-date fabrics that has just arrived, is worthy of consideration.

CONSERVATORY PUPILS GIVEN RECITAL.

Interesting Program Rendered by the Pupils of Professor Adolf Gregory.

Last Thursday evening, the pupils of the Oakland Conservatory of Music, under the direction of Professor Adolf Gregory, gave a recital in a most delightful musical.

This is the first of a series of these recitals to be given by this successful institution. The following is the program as given:

String quartet, op. 57 (Haydn), violins, J. J. Koverdoff, Miss Merle Francis; Viola, Adolf Gregory; Cello, J. Boydon; Piano solo, Sonata, op. 13 (Beethoven), Miss Altman; ballad, "Dreams" (Strelzki), Miss Alice Gregory; piano duet, op. 183 (Antonelli), Miss Gena Wilke and Miss Andel Straka; sacred air, "The Good Shepherd" (Barry), "The Stormcloud" (Roeckel), W. H. Ballantyne; quintette—Piano and Strings (Weber), piano, Miss. Adolf Gregory.

The exceptional progress made by the conservatory under the direction of Prof. Adolf Gregory during the last two years is worthy of note. By private tuition as well as participating in the various classes, there are now over one hundred students. Besides voice culture, sight singing and harmony classes, which are held morning, afternoon or evening to suit the convenience of pupils, there is a string quartette rehearsal every Thursday evening, and an ensemble orchestra class on Monday evening, and a class for the study of opera is now forming.

These classes are held in the commodious conservatory quarters, corner Twelfth and Washington streets, in the Blake Building.

MISS KATHERINE DILLON A HOSTESS.

Miss Katherine Dillon, whose cameo profile and striking grey hair were once so familiar to Oaklanders when she lived in the old Dillon homestead, which is now the Chabot home, but who has lived for several years with her intimate friend, Mrs. A. Chesebrough, whose husband is a partner in the Diamond, Williams Company, which has made so much money the last few years, was hostess on the second and third Thursdays of the month at the beautiful new home of the Chesebroughs, 3508 Clay street.

Every one always has such a delightful time at Mrs. Chesebrough's, for she is informal as possible. She and Miss Dillon received quite informally, not standing in a stiff row, and the ladies who received with them were scattered around the house and conducted most of the guests straight out to see the view, which is of the Presidio and glorious green Marin hills, and is perfect. Miss Edith Chesebrough, a debutante of last year, presided in the dining room and served the egg nog, which was delicious. Not many Oaklanders were present except my little self, but I saw Mrs. Charles Bent and Mrs. Lansing there, and we claim them by reason of the fact that they used to live in Alameda when they were Cohens.

These two sisters are living at one of the hotels—the Pendleton, I believe—where their Mondays (Monday is the hotel day) are densely crowded. Last Monday they received sixty callers. But the number is not so surprising, for Mrs. Bent and Mrs. Lansing have entertained quite generally this winter and have given one or two big luncheons at the University Club, which is the swell place for women to entertain. Mrs. Tom Magee knew that when she gave her big luncheon to Mrs. Tobin and Mrs. Robinson Riley.

MR. AND MRS. ROBINSON RILEY TO REMAIN HERE.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson Riley (Genevieve Goad Martin) appear to have taken up their permanent residence in San Francisco, where they are often to be seen in their automobile. Mrs. Riley wears an exquisite box of sables, but since the birth of her baby daughter she is rather too plump and her profile does not seem as classic as before.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Magee Jr. are back at the Palace, Mrs. Magee with some superb new garments. She is swifter than ever and has, I think, one of the best figures in San Francisco. She always buys her clothes in New York and has come back with a completely new stock.

TEVISES IN MOURNING AGAIN.

The death of little Alice Boalt Tevis puts the entire Tevis clan in mourning again, and I see that Dr. Harry is wearing a band around his hat, but they say that the period of mourning will, this time, be short. The Angel of Death seems to have a grudge against the Tevises, and the death of this child ends that particular branch of the Boalt family, and the friends of the Tevis family will never again say jestingly, as they used to, "Oh, don't you remember sweet Alice, Ben Boalt?" By the death of the child more money will go to that extraordinarily lucky individual, Cornelia Baxter Tevis, under the terms of Hugh Tevis' will, but that is as he would like to have had it, for he did not provide for his unborn son, not having foreseen that contingency.

Much sympathy is expressed for poor Suzanne Blanding, who no sooner puts her dainty little nose out at an entertainment than she is shrouded in mourning again.

Dr. Tevis' vaudeville on New Year's eve was most successful, and he was to have followed it up by a round of entertaining. The whole ballroom was made to represent a theater, you know, and Mrs. Jo Tobin and some other elite society women won fame by posing as "models" in a cloak house window, marked "Nobby," "Twelve Dollars," etc.

They say that the death of this solitary grandchild, and during her absence in Europe, will kill Mrs. Boalt, who brought the child up, just as the death of Hugh Tevis' wife when Alice was born wrecked the mind of Judge Boalt, for she was their only daughter.

Mrs. Will Tevis, who had had the care of the child at her Bakersfield home, was devoted to her little niece, for the Will Tevises have four boys and no daughter. Mrs. Tevis humored her almost to the point of spoiling her, for children are quick to take advantage of these loopholes. When the boys disputed with their girl cousin and were clearly right, Mrs. Tevis would say: "You must give it up to Alice, because she is a girl and a little orphan girl at that," which was good for the boys but not so good for the girl.

MISS MOORE'S UNIQUE TEA.

Miss Ethel Moore gave a unique tea last Saturday, which bore the stamp of originality, as everything the Moores give always does. There were about sixty guests asked to meet charming Mrs. Ernest Peixotto, the wife of the artist, and herself an artist and writer of no mean ability, and Miss Jennie Stone, who has just returned from four years spent in leisurely encircling the globe. Both of these distinguished travelers were of much interest to the guests and, taking its key from the travel note of the tea, Miss Moore had asked several of those who assisted her to wear foreign garments, with the result that Miss Sessions looked charming in Russian garb as she served tea. Miss Levy wore an Egyptian dress, and Miss May Foulkes, who has been in Europe for several years, wore the gorgeous robes of China. This added a very picturesque feature to the afternoon, but did not obscure the charms of Miss Marian Goodfellow with her gorgeous eyes, who also assisted, or of Mrs. Mark Requa, Miss Edna Barry, Mrs. Charles Minor Goodall and a number of others who looked after the comfort and entertainment of the guests.

There were many guests from San Francisco, where Miss Moore has many friends, among them Miss Edith Pillsbury, Miss Edith Livermore, Miss Laura Hamilton, Mrs. Mabel Craft Deering, Mrs. Weston of Cleveland and Mrs. A. A. Moore Jr., who wore some gorgeous sables.

No one in the receiving party looked more thoroughly charming than Miss Jacqueline Moore in a simple but beautifully made organdie. Jacqueline Moore really has great taste in dress. Mrs. James Moffitt was among the callers, and around her there was always a group of eager young women, for there are few who talk as well in these days as does Mrs. Moffitt, and she is always interesting to every one.

Miss Ethel Moore left this week for New York, where she will attend the luncheon of the Vassar Alumnae, for she is an enthusiastic Vassar girl and she loves to travel. It is a flying trip, however, and she will return shortly.

A DINNER TO THE DEERINGES.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry N. Sherman gave a dinner to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Deering last Saturday evening at the Sherman home on Jackson street. Mrs. Sherman is as charming and as fair as when she was Miss Lucia Kittle and one of the most-sought-after girls in San Francisco society. The other guests of the Shermans were Mrs. Louis B. Parrott, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Bourn, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eels and Mr. and Mrs. Norman McLaren.

A RETURNED TRAVELER.

Another returned traveler is Miss Ella Morgan, best known to us as one of the intimate friends of Mrs. Oscar Long, who has returned from a year spent in Paris very much improved in appearance, due partially to French modistes and partially to decreased embonpoint. Miss Morgan's younger sister, Therese, is said to be engaged to Norris King Davis, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Davis and grandson of Starr King.

A STORY OR TWO.

Some good stories are going the rounds about prominent Oaklanders. This one concerns a certain debutante who has a dragon of an aunt. The other evening the girl was entertaining callers in the drawing room, while her father and mother, who are nothing if not agreeable and who dislike to be bored by the conversation of callow youths, read in the library across the hall, with open doors to give a hint of chaperonage. But the dragon did not think this chaperonage sufficient and from her room upstairs she watched the progress of the hour. The college lads stayed rather later than usual, and the aunt upstairs commenced to drop her shoes—not once or twice, but many times. The noise was directly over the heads of the young people, though unnoticed by papa and mamma across the hall. When her callers finally left the young girl was almost in tears.

"I wouldn't have minded," she said afterward, "if Aunt Clarinda had only dropped two shoes, but I hate to have them think that I've an aunt who is a centipede."

A BEFORE-DINNER SPEAKER.

The Mizner boys are very clever, and one of them, Lansing, is said to be as quick-witted as any man who ever lived, though I don't know how one is to tell. The other day Lansing Mizner, who is stout, said to Horace Platt, who, as you know, is attenuated and always reminds me of the definition of a line—something that has length without breadth or thickness—"Any one would know, Horace, that you were not an after-dinner speaker—why your very appearance denotes that you're a before-dinner speaker."

ADDY MIZNER'S CALENDAR.

It is Addison Mizner, a younger brother, who is responsible for a third of the cleverness of the Cynic's Calendar, the book which has convulsed all society. Among the other clevernesses on old proverbs done up to date is the one which says, "A lie in time saves nine," "As you sew so shall you rip," "A rich man catches the eye of the beggar," "Those who came to cough remained to spray," "A fool and his honey are soon parted," "A bird on the bonnet's worth ten on the plate," etc., etc.

GOSLINGS GALORE.

Such a funny thing happened the other day in the house of an Oakland man whose wife had been called away by illness in her own family. It became necessary during the wife's absence for the husband to give a dinner to some business associates, and for some occult reason he preferred to have it at home rather than at his club. Then he didn't know what to order, but somebody said that goslings were good and so, as he was to have eight guests, he ordered eight goslings.

Well, the last I knew the wife had come home, but they were still eating gosling, which they had put on cold storage.

PATRONIZING THE RANCH.

Another Oakland matron whom you all know is married to a man who owns a big ranch. The other day the husband said to his wife, "Clara, you really must pay more attention to the kitchen. The dinners have not been good for a week. Why don't you use some of the things that come in from the ranch?" Clara was penitent, of course, and promised and the next day this is what they had for dinner:

It opened with a tomato soup which was well enough. Fish followed, with a puree of tomatoes, and the roast had stewed tomatoes for the vegetable. This was climaxed by a tomato salad and the only reason she did not have a tomato dessert was because she could not find one in the cook book. He has never suggested ranch products since.

DECANTED WINE.

And still talking about the table, I have often wondered why so many people serve wine in fine decanters, but I always supposed it was to show the beautiful bottles and banish the ugly ones from the board. The other night, however, I learned that it was not. Wine was served in a beautiful rock-crystal decanter and the guests praised it beyond all deserts. One man who is an excellent judge of such things, thought it Rhine wine—another suggested Liebfraumilch, when as a matter of fact, it was most inexpensive sauterne. Fine feathers make fine birds.

BREAKING INTO SOCIETY.

A new way of breaking into society has developed. Not long ago a certain hostess gave a large function to which she invited women whom she has not even met. Of course they did not accept, but when the list was published, it was the list of the invited and of those who attended. Verily, as the Cynic's calendar says, "Many are called but few get up."

CARDS OUT FOR TEAS.

Cards are out for a tea to be given by Mrs. Park Fellows and Mrs. Emmet Nicholson on January 30th.

HOW WE LOVE AN ELOPEMENT.

How every one loves an elopement! That of Daisy Parrott and young Parker Whitney has been the most interesting thing we have had to talk about this week, and although in some ways it greatly differed from the old time elopement to Gretna Green, inasmuch as the pair were exceedingly up-to-date, and after informing the girl's irate mother of what they intended to do, went out and took a street car, instead of the more romantic—and uncomfortable—chaise. However, Mrs. Parrott helped the romantic part of the affair along in great shape—this part didn't get into the papers—by rushing after the young people, and in the excitement not waiting for hat or coat as she was lifted to the already moving car on which were the eloping pair.

It was rather a circus for the rest of the people, who couldn't quite make out what all the excited rush of words were for—and then, right in the midst of them, young Whitney, who is small, but athletic, took Miss Daisy in his arms and stepped off the moving car, getting into another one and to the Palace Hotel, before Mrs. Parrott could get over the surprise of it or find which way they had gone.

Mary Louise Parrott had been in her sister's confidence and had promised to help her escape if the worst came to the worst, but when the time really came, she was frightened and refused to have anything to do with the affair.

The groom was frightfully nervous during the ceremony and got completely mixed as to his answers, which was natural under the circumstances. When Dr. Foute said "Who gives this bride away?"—or whatever the exact words are—all three of the groom's friends present exclaimed with one voice, "We do!"

Well, everything has been forgiven now, and the young people are honeymooning at the big Whitney ranch in Placer County, which is quite like an English estate.

MRS. HARRUB'S LUNCHEON.

Mrs. Walter Balfour Harrub's luncheon on Wednesday, for Mrs. William C. Negus, of Rochester, N. Y., who is spending the winter with her, was a very charming and altogether delightful little affair, although every one regretted that Mrs. John W. Phillips could not come across for it, because under the advice of her physician, she is taking a rest cure, and has had to forego any number of things this winter.

The table looked awfully pretty with its centerpiece of violets and narcissus, each guest receiving as favors corsage bouquets of either narcissus tied with pink silk cord, or violets tied with violet silk cord. The candelabra was of palest pink, and the name cards, water colored affairs of violets, the guest's name being done on pink ribbon, drawn through the card.

Those at table were Mrs. Negus, Mrs. Charles Adams, Mrs. William B. Hamilton, Mrs. John C. Dornin, Mrs. Thos. Thornton and Mrs. Walter A. Kenney, all of San Francisco; Mrs. Edward M. Hall, Sr., Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Mack Webber, Mrs. J. Walter Ward and Mrs. W. Edwin Griffith.

MRS. C. A. HOOPER ENTERTAINS.

Another successful luncheon took place yesterday, when Mrs. C. A. Hooper entertained for Mrs. Gus Spreckels of San Francisco—and Paris, I suppose I should add—over in Alameda, at the Hooper home on Hawthorne street.

The table decorations were of red carnations and violets, and the guests were mostly from across the bay.

Some of the twenty who sat about the table were Mrs. A. A. Moore, who has returned from a short visit to friends at Niles; Mrs. F. M. Smith, Mrs. William S. Goodfellow, Mrs. George Sperry, Mrs. Oates, of Santa Rosa, Mrs. Samuel G. Murphy, Mrs. George Hooper, Mrs. William Norwood, Mrs. Frederick W. Van Sicken, Mrs. Monroe Salisbury, Mrs. Bond, Mrs. Charles Josselyn, I think Mrs. A. L. White, and Mrs. John Hoffacker, Mrs. Spreckels' sister.

The two Hoffacker girls are, by the way, very handsome and very bright. But one hears so many people who are not really more than good looking, termed handsome, that that does not convey any idea of their beauty. They don't go in just the same set their cousin, Lurline Spreckels, is in, although they go with very nice people—and every one wonders why Mrs. Spreckels does not bring out her nieces along with her daughter, and make more of them. I heard some one wondering just the other day if they would be asked to the bal masque Mrs. Spreckels is to give for Lurline shortly.

YOUNG MATRONS CONGRATULATED.

Many congratulations are finding their way to the homes of Bessie Wall Cheyney, who has a little daughter, and to Ethel Yates Bahls, who has a dear little boy.

EUCHE PARTY AT KNOWLES' HOME.

All the younger set had a great time at the euche party Alice and Ruth Knowles gave this week, and the affair was as well carried out, and as elaborate, as are all the entertainments given in that home. Among those there were Gertrude Allen, Grace Baldwin, Susanne Bixby, Katherine Bunnell, Winifred Burdge, Florence Boone, Claire Chabot, Ethel Cooper of San Francisco, Jean Clift, Jane and Ethel Crellin, Pauline and Ione Fore, Elsie Gregory, whom every one was pleased to welcome home; Leslie Green, Edith Gaskill, Sadie Hale, Jean Howard, Kathleen Kent, Anita Lobse, Georgie Lacey, Charlotte Laws, Jacqueline Moore, Bertha and Marlon McElrath, Edith McDonald, Elsie Marwedel, Carolyn Oliver, Bessie Palmer, Marlon Smith, Ella Stretter, Edith Selby, Chrissie Taft, Ray Wellman, Minnie Wilson, Beatrice Vrooman, Rowena Moore, the Tom Bishops of San Francisco, the Oscar Gowings, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Lundborg, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Watt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Farr, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Starr, Lieutenant and Mrs. Malcolm Graham, Walter Pake-well, Lloyd Baldwin, Dan Belden, Walter Bliss, Duane L. Bliss, Jr., Walter Brown, Allen Chickering, Frank Demerius, Roger Friend, George Gage, Will Gorrill, Dr. Percy Gaskill, Henry Howard, John Edwards, Eugene Hewlett, Harold Havens, Carl and Jack Hoffman, Dwight Hutchinson, Carl Jones, Philo Henley, Lloyd Lacey, Bernard Miller, Stanley Moore, Edwin Oliver, Will and Murray Orrick, Will Olney, Silas Palmer, Covington and Charles Pringle, Harry Paddock, George Sessions, Prentiss Selby, Carl Schilling and Joe Rosborough, who, by the by, has taken the management of the "Out West" magazine, and has offices in the Hearst Building, across the bay. They say the February number is to contain a splendid article on Oakland, written by Charles J. Woodbury, formerly of the New York evening Post, and illustrated by Ed Jackson of East Oakland, whose skill in photography we all know so well.

ENTERTAINS AT HER STUDIO.

Laura Prather, who always has one or two miniatures on hand, and who is very busy these days, has an interesting studio at the old Dyer place on Jackson street, and on Fridays—her reception day—one always meets a number of people. Last week Mrs. Emma Shafter Howard, Shafter Howard, Mrs. MacDowell, wife of the musician; Mrs. Cheek, Mr. and Mrs. Orrick and Mrs. Sam Prather were there.

OAKLAND PEOPLE EAST AND ABROAD.

How on earth are the card clubs to get along without Mrs. Lou Allender, who left this week to spend some time in Chicago, New York and Washington, where, by the way, Gertrude Gould is being chaperoned by Mrs. Victor Metcalf; she and Ethel Whitney having lots of fun taking in everything together. Last week Mrs. Metcalf chaperoned them to a big dance at Annapoo, where they had the oft-repeated "time of their lives." Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore are expected to return from a short trip to Los Angeles this week.

The Fred Strattons sail for the Orient on the Gaelic next Wednesday, to spend a week at the Hawaiian Islands, two weeks in Japan, and some time in China. Mr. Stratton going for the purpose of looking into the custom-house service in those countries.

On Wednesday of this week Katherine Dillon and Patricia Cosgrave sailed from New York for Egypt, where they will spend the remainder of the winter taking in all the sights and going down the Nile, and in the spring will visit the different European countries.

George H. Strong, Georgia Strong and Dr. and Mrs. Rodolph, sailed on Wednesday for a three or four weeks' trip to Honolulu, among the other passengers on the Korea—and there were more first cabin passengers aboard than have sailed for the Orient in many a moon—having been Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sherman, nee Moody, of San Francisco, who are to remain over there for two years.

WILL WED A BELLE OF FRESNO.

The latest engagement—I mean, of course, announced engagement—in society is that of handsome Allan Chickering and Alma Sherman, of the University of California and Fresno. I should, of course, have put Miss Sherman's name first, but we all know Allan Chickering so much better that his name came first quite naturally. The pretty young bride-elect is a daughter of Dr. Sherman of Fresno, and while at college has written some very clever college plays and farces. She has found time to go out quite a bit, too, and is a charming girl.

Allan is the eldest son of the William H. Chickering, who are expected home from spending the winter at the Occidental, across the bay, in a few weeks; and is associated with his father in the firm of Chickering & Gregory of San Francisco. After graduating from college in '98, he studied law in New York for several years. He was the first editor of the Daily Californian at the University of California. No date has been set for the wedding, but it is to be very quiet on account of a recent death in Miss Sherman's family.

BURGARS IN A FRATERNITY HOUSE.

What a shame to think that the boys at the Chi Phi house lost that lovely big rug of theirs, and all their fraternity silver, not to speak of several swaggar raglans taken from the hat-rack. It seems odd that not one of all the household should have been at home to surprise the burglars, but the unknown robber or robbers seem to have had things all their own way.

WILL ENTERTAIN BRIDE-ELECT.

Ethel Kittredge, the bride-elect, is to have another luncheon for her, for on Thursday next, Mrs. Oscar Gowing entertains for her at Piedmont. The table will be decorated with violets and daffodils, the name cards and favors, not yet having been decided upon, and anyhow it spoils things, to have the guests know just what to expect beforehand. Those who have been asked to meet Ethel are, Gertrude Allen, who hasn't decided just what day she leaves for Idaho; Jane Rawlings, Mrs. Gus Bray, Mamie Barker, Mrs. Willard Wayman of San Francisco; Chrissie Taft, Mrs. Walter A. Starr, Mrs. John Henry Diekmann, Jr., Mrs. James P. H. Dunn, Edith Selby, Bessie Palmer and Jean Howard.

WON FORTUNE AND A BRIDE.

And so the dashing Colonel William Cotton is to return to make things hum in sleepy Oakland again! It does not seem any time at all, since "King" Cotton left the places that had known him here, and went away to seek his fortune anew, but it has been quite a time and he is bringing a second wife with him, having gained a fortune in Wall street and a wealthy widow besides. Although she is not in society, a great many of us know by sight the pretty and stylish girl whom we all expected would be "King" Cotton's second choice of a wife, and gossip says she rather expected it, too, but she is not of the sort to weep over split milk, and will probably be one of the crowd of friends the Colonel and his wife will entertain royally when they return.

WILL LECTURE ON WAGNER.

The Wagner lecture that J. Hamilton Howe was to have given at Mrs. Emma Shafter Howard's on Thursday, has been postponed, and will take place at her home on Monday next, instead, at 8 in the evening.

There will be a small entrance tax, and a large audience I'm sure.

SOCIETY WILL ATTEND TEAS.

We have two big teas to look forward to, that of the Eversons, who have such a splendid house in which to entertain, and that of Mrs. Park Fellows and her daughter, Mrs. Emmet Nicholson.

The two latter are to be assisted in receiving by Mrs. M. B. Nicholson, Carrie and Belle Nicholson, Mrs. Albert A. Long, Mrs. Fred Allardt, Mrs. Shepherd Jenks, Mrs. Henry Rosenfeld, Mrs. Newton Koser, Mrs. Vernon Waldron, Eva and Harriet Knight, Marion Everson, Mrs. William E. Colby, Mary Wilson, Mrs. Frederick Marsh Colby, Mrs. Harry Smith and Mrs. Lee Cole Burnham.

Mrs. Everson and Marion and Dotie Everson will have receiving with them, Mrs. Willard T. Barton, Mrs. Remi Chabot, Mrs. John Yule, Mrs. S. T. Alexander, Mrs. H. E. Cooke, Mrs. B. M. Gunn, Mrs. George H. Collins, Mrs. James P. H. Dunn, Mrs. Ernest Peixotto, Mrs. John Henry Diekmann, Jr., Mrs. R. W. Gorrill, Mrs. William J. Gunn, Mrs. William E. Colby, Mrs. Adam T. Gunn, May Benton, Mrs. Francis Dunwoody, Mrs. Lee Burnham, Mrs. Cleveland Forbes, Mrs. Charles Rodolph, Mrs. Vernon Waldron, Mrs. Newton Koser, Mrs. Emmet Nicholson, Mrs. William H. Chickering, Mrs. Rob Knight, Mrs. Francis Musser, Georgia Strong, Amy Gunn of San Francisco, a cousin of the Everson girls; Mary Wilson, Mabel Gray, Eva and Harriet Knight, Elizabeth Gray, Claire Chabot, Lurline Burnham, Edith Beck, Edna Barry, Bessie Reed, Ethel Sims, Emily Chickering, Elsie Wenzelberger, Mollie Mathers, Sadie Alexander, Lita Schlessinger, Edna Wemple, Alma Sherman and Eva Powell.

ISADORA DUNCAN IS IN GERMANY.

Isadora Duncan, the well known Oakland girl, is dancing in Berlin under royal management and has created quite a stir, the critics taking the most opposite views of the artistic merits of her performance. Her mother, Mrs. Joseph C. Duncan, accompanies her.

STLYISH GOWNS AT A COTILLION.

Among those who looked especially well at the La Jeunesse cotillion across the bay on Friday night of last week, were Queenie Russell of Alameda, who wore a Nile green silk with a white overdress trimmed with ruchings of ribbon; Marie Plaw, of Fruitvale, in a white crepe de chine, the skirt entirely tucked, and finished with flounces, edged with satin ribbon. The waist was prettily embroidered and finished with the satin ribbon; Mrs. Charles Bent of Alameda and San Francisco, wore a satin striped just cloth gown, trimmed with black spangled lace insertions and jet.

ENTERTAINING ELIZABETH EBY.

A number of informal little affairs are being planned for Elizabeth Eby, of Vernon Heights, whose wedding day is set for next month.

Alice Coffin is to give her a luncheon shortly, the other guests to be Elizabeth's older sister, Chrissie Eby, Anna White, Rene Cullen, Eva Powell, Belle Knox, Miss Brown, Annie Brown, Ada Bates, Elizabeth Scupham, Grace Cope, Martha Coffin and Lillie Moller.

MISS MOORE ENTERTAINS.

Jacqueline Moore's dinner and dance at the Golf Club on Thursday evening for the three debutantes, Marion Goodfellow, Marion Smith and Winifred Burdge, was simply perfect in every detail, and every one had a splendid time.

The dinner was a small affair, but later a hundred or more came for the dance, and there was supper at midnight. Just a few greens were placed about the big fire place and over the pictures, and the table for dinner was trimmed with violets.

Those about the board besides the three guests of honor and the hostess were Ethel Moore, Elsie Sperry and Kate Herrin, from across the bay; Isabelle Hooper of Alameda, Stanley Moore, Arthur Goodfellow, Allan Chickering, Dr. Arnold Genthe, Dr. Sewall, Wilder Wight, Wigginton Creed and Sam Stow. Marion Goodfellow wore a lovely dress of pink embroidered chiffon, trimmed with spangles; Marion Smith wore white chiffon, trimmed with rose leaves; Winifred Burdge had on pink chiffon and lace; Ethel Crellin also wore pink, her gown being of net and lace; Edith Gaskill wore white gauze; Daisy Belden, white mousseline over pink. Bessie Palmer, accordin plaited pink crepe de chine; Ethel Moore, blue crepe de chine, with small roses of chiffon; Helen Chase, pink gauze; Florence Lowden, white silk; Claire Chabot, white mousseline, over pink silk, with roses of chiffon and lace applique; Edna Barry, Ione Fore, Grace Baldwin, Alice and Ruth Knowles all wore pretty gowns.

RECEPTION DAY AT ARBOR VILLA.

Wednesday was the third reception day at Arbor Villa, and the big hall was filled with guests, although I expect there will be even a greater crowd next week. People usually wait and go on the last day, when there are a series of at home days. Those who assisted Mrs. Smith and the girls in receiving were Mrs. Charles Minor Goodall, Mrs. Jane Sather, Grace Sperry, Evelyn Ellis, Bessie Reed, Helen Chase, Lurline Burnham, Jane Crellin and Ethelwynne Gardiner, the men joining them later at dinner being Captain Charles Minor Goodall, C. H. King, F. M. Smith, Walter P. Johnson, Will Russell, Ed King, Donald Spencer, Dennis Searies, Traylor Bell and Dwight Hutchinson.

MRS. BRADLEY GIVES A PARTY.

Mrs. Richard Bradley gave a euche party to forty friends this week, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Margaret Wall, on Santa Clara avenue, Alameda, the affair having been complimentary to Mrs. Murray of Yreka, who sailed on the Korea for Hongkong, to join her husband there. The rooms were prettily decorated in red and green, and the artistic little prizes went to Mrs. George C. Bull, Mrs. Shattuck and Mrs. Bissell.

MISS BROWNE GIVES INFORMAL TEA.

Florence Browne's informal tea for a hundred or more, for Hallie Bakewell, on Wednesday, was one of the events of the past week, and was a goodbye to the guest of honor, who leaves for Europe, to be away some months, very shortly. Those who assisted in receiving were Mrs. Stuart Smith, Mrs. Sydney W. Van Wyck, Jr., Erwin Smith, Elizabeth and Julia Leigh, Mrs. Milton Bulkley, Arlie Humphreys, the Hamilton girls of Sausalito; Miss Cutting, Mrs. William Gardiner Cooke, Dolores Wilkins, Elsie Gregory, Mary Le Conte, Irene Bangs, Elsie Noyes and Evelyn Browne.

WILL GIVE A BACHELOR BALL.

Among the men who are planning with Ned Greenway and a number of other dancing men, for the bachelor ball they intend giving across the bay on Friday evening, February 6th, are

WILL THIS BE AN ALAMEDA COUNTY ADMINISTRATION?

Charles Spear Will Get Paris Killburn's Place—Many Candidates for San Quentin's Wardenship—Spreckels Gets a Promise—John Britton and the Regency—Not Even a Suspected Case of Plague in San Francisco.

By The Knave

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 24.—The politicians are beginning to ask: "Is this going to be an Alameda county administration?" Governor Gage went to Los Angeles for a large part of his official family, and Governor Pardee did not go outside his county for the men who have the most intimate relations with him in his office. It is noticed, also, that Alameda county men are very much to the fore whenever one of the jobs in the Governor's gift is mentioned.

To begin with, Charlie Spear is to have Paris Killburn's place in the Board of Harbor Commissioners, though a lot of business pilgrims from San Francisco said they hoped the Governor would appoint some San Francisco business man to the place. Killburn has thought until recently that with his usual luck he would be able to hold on to his job, but now it is told that a great light has been thrown upon him and he has about given up his cause as hopeless. So Spear is to be the first of the Alameda county men to come in for a prize package in the way of appointments.

Alameda county is forward in the scramble for Martin Aguirre's place as Warden of San Quentin State Prison. What with Ex-Chief McClellan, Ex-Sheriff Rogers and Captain Peterson all clamoring for the appointment, Alameda may be said to be heard from. Fred Esola of San Francisco, formerly Lieutenant of Police and Andy Lawrence's candidate for Chief, wants that place, and he has some very powerful backing from among the men who used to handle the transport business under Colonel Long. Then there is Ex-Sheriff Besse of Santa Cruz, recently defeated for re-election—he would, like to be Warden. So would Ex-Sheriff Hamill of Los Angeles, also recently defeated. What with Hamill, Besse and Rogers all recently defeated and all aspirants it would seem that a recent defeat is considered quite a necessary recommendation for a candidate. John Burr, who once was Sheriff of Los Angeles, is another of the Southern California aspirants.

But Don Martin Aguirre thinks he can hold his place against all comers, and he really has something to go on. In some of the "paisano" districts in Los Angeles county, where Aguirre made a special fight for Pardee, the Governor ran far ahead of his ticket. It has been said that Aguirre has deserted Gage and gone over to Sam Leake and the enemy. This Aguirre denies, and insists he is true to his brother-in-law no matter what men say. That fact, however, would be no particular recommendation with Pardee, who is far from tender of the feelings of the Gage appointees.

There is no Port Warden to be appointed in the natural order of things for a year to come, but S. N. Wyckoff of Berkeley, an insurance man, is a candidate for one of the places. He probably is working on the theory that Spear will be made Harbor Commissioner in March and that, as Spear now is a Port Warden, a vacancy will be created, and an Alameda county man must be ready for every vacancy.

When it comes to Pilot Commissioners the applicants are "like the sands of the sea without number." Captain Freeman, the pilot who lives in your city, is one of the foremost applicants. Bert Morrow, son of Circuit Judge Morrow, would like to be appointed. Ex-Supervisor Henry Bingham has sent in a petition, and Captains Billy Leale, Pratt, Ott, Alexander, Matteson and a raft of other men more or less interested in shipping or in water front affairs have sent in their petitions and backed up their applications with "influence."

It has been told that John D. Spreckels has secured from Pardee a promise that Hugh M. Burke shall be the secretary of the Pilot Commission. This place pays $100 a month, and there is not a lick of work to do. There was a sort of tradition that a newspaper man should hold the job until Colonel Burns had Gage turn out Al Murphy and put Eddie Conroy, the bookmaker, in the place. As Burke is a veteran newspaper man as well as a veteran of the Civil War, it will be a sort of journalistic justice if Pardee turns out Conroy and gives the sinecure to Burke.

Singularly enough, Alameda county does not seem to have furnished a militia hero to come forward and ask an appointment as Adjutant General, though perhaps Adjutant General George Stone, the incumbent, still lives over your way somewhere when he is at home. Stone, who formerly was chairman of the State Central Committee, wants to remain in the office if Pardee will let him. Colonel Will Johnson of Stockton has his eye on those epaulettes and that salary. So has Major Sims of San Francisco. Colonel Schreiber and Assistant Editor Washburne of the Times are the Los Angeles candidates. There are others, but their names are not often heard. When Colonel Lew Bromwell appeared on the scene people said: "There comes the Alameda county man for the place at last." But Bromwell declares he told the Governor he didn't want anything and wouldn't have anything.

When the appointment of a Regent was discussed at first the names of Senator Lukens and John A. Britton were generally mentioned as likely to be offered the honor. But Lukens has said that Pardee would not tender him the place because of the Governor's frequently expressed sentiment that there already are too many lawyers on the Board. The Governor has declared time and again that he wants more business men to lighten the lump of professionalism which does what Benjamin Ide Wheeler wants it to do. So it was taken for granted that there would be a tender of the honor to Britton. But Britton has said very firmly that he doesn't want the place and would refuse it if it were tendered him. As a consequence, some good business man of Alameda county might get that honor if he would go right after it—a U. C. alumnus preferred, but a business man first of all. The death of Henry Pierce has left a vacancy on the Deaf and Dumb and Blind Board for you Alameda chaps to scrap over, and as scrappers you are supposed to be very near the limit.

It is the Regency of Father Peter C. Yorke which, more than anything else, is tying up those Gage appointments. Pardee would like to have the Senate refuse confirmation to Father Yorke, to Johnnie Mackenzie, the Harbor Commissioner, and to the members of the State Board of Health, so that Dr. W. P. Mathews will lose his salary as secretary of the last named Board. Senator Leavitt has done quite a lot of work in trying to program the Senate to carry out these wishes of the Governor. But the Senate will not program. It surely will confirm Father Yorke as Regent if the matter of confirmation ever comes up, and if it all probability will confirm Mackenzie as Harbor Commissioner. So the Governor must withdraw those Gage appointments if he wants to work his will in getting rid of the obnoxious ones. It has been suggested that he might get the Senate to let all the Gage appointments hang fire until after the adjournment, when all of them will expire under the law. But that wouldn't help Pardee, as he then would have to make new appointments and thus incur the enmity of the men he did not reappoint. So, in the language of the politicians, the Governor is "up against it" unless the Senate should unexpectedly agree to take the burden off his shoulders.

Probably the Senate would sac-rific the State Board of Health, but in that case the officials are facing a very serious problem. That Board of Health has saved California from being quarantined on account of the so-called plague. Surgeon General Wyman and the Federal quarantine authorities have demanded from Pardee and Mayor Schmitz the absolute control of quarantine affairs at San Francisco, the appointment of the men and the spending of the money, which money the State is to furnish.

Senator Knowland has presented a bill for the Governor appropriating another $100,000 to be spent in cleaning up Chinatown and in suppressing the so-called plague. But if the present State Board of Health is ignored in the spending of that money, or if it is deposited and everything turned over to the Federal authorities, there will be an injunction at once to prevent any but State officers spending State money. That will make everything public and there is no telling how much trouble might ensue. Herrin, Schmitz and the editors talked very plainly to the Governor when they came up to discuss the plague subject this week, and Schmitz very emphatically said he would not surrender the authority of the City Board of Health to the Federal authorities under any circumstances.

So that Health Board matter is a risky one to touch, and already the Chronicle has fired a broadside against the Knowland bill appropriating the $100,000. That looks like a tentative sort of declaration of war on the Governor. It is believed from the monitoring of Dr. Herbert Moffitt by Pardee on Thursday that the Governor contemplates appointing a State Board of Health from among the tip-top of California physicians—a Board too high for criticism. There are those who say that such a Board would be a great danger to the State, as there is no power on earth could prevent them from publishing a disease as bubonic plague if they really diagnosed it as such.

Meantime it is comforting to know that, whatever this Chinatown complaint which swells the glands and looks so much like the real plague, there has not been even a suspected case since December 6—a matter of forty-eight days. As fifteen days is the limit of plague infection, there certainly is no wild cause for alarm over the situation. In fact, had there not been so much infernal secrecy at the demand of the San Francisco business men there would have been no scare at all.

It has been nearly three years since the first suspected case was reported. In that time there have been ninety-three suspected cases altogether. So, whatever the disease, it is only a little more fatal than mumps, also a glandular swelling, and no case has been directly traceable to any other case. Yet the Connecticut Board of Health officially published that there had been 1,000 deaths from plague in California. That's what this fool secrecy does toward making a mountain out of a mole hill.

THE KNAVE.

NEW ATHLETIC CLUB FOR OAKLAND

NOTES OF INTEREST FOR THE FOLLOWERS OF THE FIGHTING GAME.

There has been a new athletic club organized in this city which is looking for a permit to pull off fights. There is little chance of the club securing one, however, for the reason that there are three clubs in this city that are already licensed and the officials think that to add another club to the list would be overdoing the matter.

The fighting game is kept pretty busy between the three clubs already in the ring and it is not thought that the application of the new club for a permit will be countenanced.

Next Monday it will be known whether or not Andrew Tekel, the English champion bantam-weight, will fight Frankie Neil across the bay. Yesterday Tekel wired that he would give his decision on that day.

Big Joe Schmed, the Indian, who was cut for the heavy-weight powers, made his first appearance in the ring last night in San Francisco, but was up against too hard a game. Charles Matt, his colored opponent so far outclassed him that the referee stopped the bout in the second round.

The Reliance Club have matched McVey and Kid Carter for their February show. The match between Britt and Parker seems to have fallen through and now Britt is shying in the direction of Young Corbett.

LOHMAN PLANS FOR THE SEASON

OAKLAND WILL HAVE A WINNING BALL TEAM IF THE SIGNS COUNT.

Pete Lohman, manager of the Oakland baseball team, has some great players coming from the East. One of these is an outfielder who is a midge in size but bats around the 300 mark. Pete has also signed a shortstop and second baseman, but their names are withheld for the present.

Lohman may commence the season with three left-handed pitchers and one right. Cooper and Graham both throw the ball from the off side, a National Leaguer that is coming also plays ball with his left hand, and Dr. Moskman makes up the fourth.

The Spaulding League ball will be adopted by the Pacific Coast League for the coming season, as suitable arrangements could not be made with the Griffith people.

The Portland Club will come to San Jose in the spring to practice for the twirling. He captured the pitcher by outbidding the manager of the rival Seattle team.

Parke Wilson of Seattle has secured the services of Fred Schock to assist in the twirling. He captured the pitcher by outbidding the manager of the rival Seattle team.

INDEPENDENT PRICES BREAK.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—There has been a further break in the price of independent coal, in some cases as low as $7 a ton free on board being asked, while no dealer was willing to buy at a higher figure than $8 a ton.

In order to get the embargo ordered two days ago taken off, some of the independent operators whose coal is carried by the Lehigh Valley railroad, were selling their coal at anything above $1 a ton at the collieries for delivery at points between New York and the collieries.

The drop in the wholesale price of independent coal was followed by a sympathetic drop in the retail price.

Peralta Hall Park yesterday passed into the hands of the corporation of St. Mary's College, and by August 1, the beginning of next school term, Peralta Hall will be occupied by St. Joseph's Academy.

Deeds were placed on record whereby Francis Dunn, owner of the Peralta Park, traded with the Christian Brothers his property for the academy site covering the block bounded by Fourth, Fifth, Jackson and Madison streets. The college also gave certain considerations.

The main building in Peralta Park was built in 1855 by M. B. Curtis at a cost of $100,000. The site of the park covers six acres. After Curtis parted with the property it went to the Norman Parish estate and was purchased six years ago by Francis Dunn, who has been conducting a boy's school there.

Pullman Service for Del Monte.

The management of the Hotel Del Monte has arranged a permanent Pullman service, which will make stopping at that popular caravansary still more popular than ever. Through Pullman cars will be run between the hotel and Los Angeles as well as San Francisco in each direction. One of the principal reasons for this arrangement is to allow a man to leave his family at the hotel, go to Los Angeles, attend to his business there and on his return spend a day if he so desires at the hotel, then travel on with his family. The hours of the train schedule are most convenient. The San Francisco train leaves that city at 2 p. m., leaving Del Monte at 3:30 a. m., the guests arrive at San Francisco at 12:15 p. m. A train leaves Del Monte at 2:50 p. m., which arrives at Los Angeles next day at 12:30 p. m. and at Santa Barbara at 5 a. m. ## BRIBERY CASE BEFORE NAVAL COMMITTEE.

Accused Tells of His Dealings With Congressman Doblin—Willing to Help Out in Politics.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The House Committee on Naval Affairs resumed the investigation of the charges made by Representative Lessor that he had been approached with an offer of money for his vote.

Philip Doblin was the first witness called.

He was interrogated by Representative Taylor of the Republican Committee.

He said he had no employment at present, but was employed by the Republican committee during the campaign of 1902 and attended to the distribution of literature, and that he also was a deputy in the office of the Superintendent of Elections.

He said he did what he could to aid in the election of Representative Lessor, whom he had known since 1894.

Answering Mr. Taylor, he said that he had been in politics for twelve years.

"I stood ready to serve Mr. Lessor in any way I could," he said, when asked as to his relations with Mr. Lessor, whose office he made his headquarters.

Mr. Doblin said he had known Mr. Quigg since 1896.

"Did you have a talk with Mr. Quigg relative to Holland submarine boats?"

"Yes, sir."

"When was that?"

"Somewhere between the 10th and 15th of December."

"Where?"

"I received a telephone message asking me to come to 100 Broadway."

He had seen Mr. Quigg once since the State Convention up to that time.

He went to Mr. Quigg's office, he continued, and went to lunch with Mr. Quigg.

"Mr. Quigg wanted to know how Mr. Lessor and I were," he said, "and I told him I thought Mr. Lessor and I were quite intimate."

He said they talked over the question of building torpedo boats.

Mr. Quigg, he added, was trying to get Mr. Lessor favorably disposed toward the bill.

ENGLAND DOES NOT LIKE THE CUBAN TREATY.

British Merchants Call on Secretary Lansdowne and Enter a Protest—England's Commerce Vitally Concerned.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The reciprocity treaty between Cuba and the United States threatens to raise one of the most serious differences of opinion between Great Britain and the United States that has occurred for years.

So much importance is attached to the matter that a meeting of the Cabinet is being especially summoned to see what action can be taken.

There is, of course, no alarmist feeling as to any possible straining of diplomatic relations, but Great Britain's entire commercial policy is believed to be vitally concerned.

The matter came to a head through the deputation from the Chambers of Commerce of the United Kingdom, which waited upon Foreign Secretary Lansdowne yesterday.

It included several members of Parliament and represented the most powerful business interests from all the big industrial centers.

Replying to the delegates' argument that all the advantages which the government had gained by securing the abolition of the sugar bounties would be sacrificed if the Cuban reciprocity treaty became operative, Lord Lansdowne said he thoroughly realized the gravity of the situation and proceeded to read dispatches showing that Ambassador Herbert had forcefully represented the British objections to the treaty, pointing out that it was to all intents and purposes, a discrimination against all the British possessions in the West Indies.

Secretary Hay's reply maintained that the United States was doing no more than it had the right to do, and intimated that it had no intention of modifying the Cuban treaty.

Lord Lansdowne added that all the information available pointed to the fact that the treaty would pass, but he announced that the Cabinet would consider if anything further could be done.

The delegates said they understood the treaty contains a secret clause, stipulating that no further measures of reciprocity shall be undertaken by the United States towards the British West Indies.

If such was the case it was suggested to Lord Lansdowne that Great Britain would be only within her rights in retaliating with an increased duty on grain.

The Foreign Secretary gave no intimation on this point, which apparently was only suggested in the hope that some of the members of the Cabinet, who are reported to be strongly in favor of a more protectionist policy, might use it as a handle to forward their views.

ENGINEERS HAVE HEARING BEFORE COUNCIL.

The Ordinance for Proposed Office is Laid Over—Matters of Interest Before the Committee.

At the meeting of the Ordinance and Judiciary Committee of the City Council last evening that body decided to lay over for thirty days the ordinance creating the office of examiner of engineers and boilers. Incidentally some spirited speeches were made on the subject.

The ordinance provides that all engineers and operatives shall be licensed and tested at least once a year. It provides for three classes of engineers and fixes the license fee at $5 and $1 for renewals. The salary of the examiner is fixed at $1,200 a year.

F. J. Whalen was the first to speak for the union.

"I am an engineer and a member of the Engineers' Union of Oakland," he said. "Eighteen months ago we framed a license law after working upon it for six months. We did not submit it to you because we found small plants might move from Oakland. They are installed in rented property and could be moved for a few dollars outside the city. They could also change the power from steam to electricity. This ordinance protects the public but not the engineer. As it stands, an Asiatic could get a license. The inspector may issue a license to a man who would blow up a plant. Besides these objections, there is a State law now before the Legislature, and if it is passed we would be required to pay a double license. We would like to have action deferred."

"Don't you think the public should be protected?" asked Chairman Cadman.

"Certainly," replied Whalen, "but the public is protected by the union, which has an examining board to examine applicants for membership."

G. K. Smith, business agent of the Building Trades Council, also protested against the ordinance, stating that the Council had endorsed the engineers' fight.

Mr. Kearney, a marine engineer, said that such a license was necessary. He had gone to sea, he said, and knew that such a license would take the engineers out of competition. He said he could not see any reason why an organization should oppose the measure.

A. Gallagher said he had also gone to sea and knew Kearney's statement to be incorrect. He wanted the ordinance laid over until after the Legislature had decided upon the measure before it.

Representative Clark of the Machinists' Union said his organization had endorsed the ordinance, but had done so under the misunderstanding that the engineers had endorsed it.

President Tyndall of the Machinists' Union repeated what Clark had said, stating that the union had been "jobbed."

P. B. Preble of the State Federation of Labor said that body, at its recent convention in Los Angeles, endorsed the bill now at Sacramento.

Ed. Stanley spoke in favor of the proposed ordinance. He said it was similar to the bill at Sacramento except that it did not allow an engineer of three years' experience to take out a license without being examined. It also failed, he said, to provide for the inspection of boilers. He said it was an abominable thought that an engineer of fifteen years' experience was afraid of an examination.

"There is a man in Oakland," continued Stanley, "who is a plumber, and yet he has charge of a plant and he is a member of the union. In that plant an engine was installed three years ago that would carry only sixty pounds of steam with safety. That engine now carries 110 pounds of steam. The union drew up an ordinance over a year ago and referred it to a lawyer, but it has never been presented. It is a proposition for forty-six men wanting to control the legislation for more than 82,000 people."

"Does the State law or measure before the Legislature provide for testing boilers?" asked Stanley.

"It does not," replied Stanley. "The truth of this matter is that it is close to election time and the union is trying to make it a political issue."

John Ellsworth spoke at considerable length, stating that he had tried to lobby such a bill through at Sacramento in 1881, but had been defeated by the owners of threshing machines in the interior.

"This is certainly a union measure," said Ellsworth. "I want to their convention and they were so emphatic on the subject that I came almost voting the Labor Union ticket. I didn't, however. I have been a marine engineer for years and have taken eighteen civil service examinations, yet I have not reached the top."

"Let me tell you the trouble—the vital point. Louis Schaffer introduced that ordinance and the union is trying to get back at him because they think he is trying to break up the Steam Engine Union. I ask you to pass this in the name of the people and in the name of the women and innocent little children, who should be protected from a force that is worse than dynamite. There were thirty-one boiler explosions in the United States during last month."

"Regarding Schaffer," said G. K. Smith, "when Ellsworth had concluded, let me say that if Old Nick himself had introduced the ordinance we would have supported it if we thought it would be good for the union."

Upon motion of Fitzgerald, the ordinance was laid over for thirty days by the following vote:

Ayes—Ellsworth, Cadman, Fitzgerald, Wilson—4.
Nays—Bishop—1.
BICYCLE ORDINANCE.

A new bicycle ordinance was introduced by Bishop, but on the objection of Wilson it was sent to the Council to take the usual course. It prohibits the riding of bicycles in the district bounded by Sixth, Jefferson, Twentieth and Harrison streets.

TAX ROLLS.

An ordinance authorizing the City Assessor to procure tax rolls from the County Assessor was passed to print.

Upon motion of Wilson, the fixing of water rates was postponed until next Thursday evening.

BAIL MONEY.

An ordinance was recommended to be passed to print which authorizes the Treasurer to return bail money which has been deposited with him by the bailiff of the Police Court, after the dismissal of a case.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

The report of City Attorney Johnson upon the petition of T. L. Banker and A. Brown to refund taxes was laid over until the next meeting by the Auditing and Finance Committee.

Three ordinances of the Hutchinson-Ransom Company for street work were recommended.

LIGHT COMMITTEE.

Petition of F. A. Merguire for an electric light on Thirty-first street, west of Grove, was laid over for the report of Superintendent Fleming.

Petition of R. S. Kitchner to extend street of Ghilotti & Darcha 50th Telegraph avenue; James Corley, 328 San Pablo avenue; Peter Christensen, 483 Seventh; Joseph Herbert, 253 B street; J. J. Hanlin, 851 Broadway.

CLAN MACDONALD WILL GIVE LARGE ENTERTAINMENT

MAPLE HALL WILL BE CROWDED NEXT MONDAY AFTER-NOON.

At Maple Hall on Monday evening next Clan Macdonald will celebrate with a concert and dance the 14th anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns, the national bard of Scotland.

On this day, wherever there are Scotchmen, and that means the wide world over, they consider it their bounden duty to celebrate his birthday.

Nowadays not only the Scotch, but the people of all nations unite in revering the memory of him who wrote and sung of the time when "Man to man the world o'er shall brethren be and a' that." Age cannot wither or time decay the fame of Burns, and it will be an intellectual treat to listen to the Rev. Dr. Baker's address on the poet.

The Doctor is fully capable of doing justice to his subject and his estimate of Burns will satisfy even the Scotch. The songs of Burns will be rendered by the best talent obtainable in Oakland and San Francisco. No better singers of Scotch songs ever appeared before an Oakland audience than Miss Daisy Keene, R. Howden and W. Macdonald, the other singers, Miss Byrne and Mr. Farley come well recommended and will doubtless uphold their reputations. Mr. Smith's reading of the "Reel o' Hoolichan" is worth the price of admission alone. There has been a large demand for tickets and the indications are that Maple Hall will be filled to overflowing.

AGAINST SUNDAY SCHOOL BOOKS.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Fervid denunciation of Sunday school books marked the address delivered by Dr. E. G. Hirsch last night in Temple Israel.

His subject was, "What Shall Children Read?" and in the course of his address he said that most of the school literature for children should be labeled as poison.

After telling the importance of good reading for children, Mr. Hirsch, referring to Sunday school stories, said:

"There is not a single note in this trash that rings true to life or character of the child. In these books all sorts of impossibilities are calmly assumed and God is dragged into them in the role of a brutal and bungling policeman. There are no words in the Anglo-Saxon tongue that would adequately characterize their stupidity."

"The Sunday school books are worse than any dime novel. Their theology is damnable and their morality is below the freezing point. Even if they were not liable to these objections they should be condemned for their literary style, for they contain so much bad grammar and baby talk that they are a cruel infliction on the child."

A PARK FOR THE POOR.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—In connection with the plan to remove Henry Ward Beecher's body to Plymouth Church, in Brooklyn, and erect a memorial building adjoining the church, it has been suggested that the entire half block to the west of the church be purchased, razed of its buildings and converted into a breathing place for the poor along the water front, under the name of Beecher Park. It is thought that the property could be secured for about $100,000 and the idea is receiving serious consideration, although it is entirely apart from the original plan, for which a fund of $150,000 is now being raised.

ALONG NEW IDEAS.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—According to the Tribune's correspondent at Tacoma, Wash., the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of that city has inaugurated a crusade against the social evil along new ideas. Instead of persecuting the unfortunate young women and driving them out of the city, prominent members of the union will take them into their own homes on promise of reform.

PASSENGER TRAIN IN A BAD WRECK.

Railroad Men Jump and Save Their Lives—Fireman Killed at His Post—Passengers Escape.

OMAHA, Nebraska, Jan. 24.—Union Pacific passenger train No. 3, West-bound, which left Omaha at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, ran into an ice train at Gothenburg, Nebraska, at midnight and both trains were badly wrecked.

Fireman R. L. Dolson of the passenger train was killed and his father, W. L. Dolson of North Platte, who was riding on the train, was slightly injured.

The other members of the engine crews saved themselves by jumping.

The passengers received a severe shaking up but none were seriously hurt.

The cause of the wreck is not known.

NEW RAILROAD FRANCHISE IS RECOMMENDED.

The Ordinance Committee Reports in Favor of the Road—Is Strongly Backed By the Merchants.

There seems no doubt now that the application of J. H. Macdonald for an electric street railway franchise from the foot of Broadway to Mountain View Cemetery, via Washington, Fourteenth and Webster streets, will be granted.

It is strongly urged by leading business men and by the residents and property owners on Webster street and north of Lake Merritt, who insist that the proposed road will tap a large and growing residence district that is now without any street railroad facilities at all.

The effect of this urgent representation was shown when the Ordinance and Judiciary Committee took the matter up last night.

Without discussion the committee recommended the adoption of the resolution directing the clerk to publish a notice fixing the time for receiving bids for franchise.

Cadman voted no.

This foreshadows the granting of the franchise unless unexpected opposition should crop up when the matter comes up in the Council.

The chief objection urged against the proposed line is that it zigzags from Broadway over to Washington and from Washington back to Broadway, but this is met by the suggestion that the Transit Company give the new company the right to run its cars down Broadway direct from Fourteenth street.

It is pointed out that the Transit could grant this permission without injuring its business, as the traffic confined to points between Fourteenth street and the foot of Broadway is small, and the Transit Company would run ten cars over that part of the line to the new road's one.

It is also suggested that the Transit could better afford to allow the Macdonald road to go straight down Broadway than to have it go on the right of way on Washington as well as Broadway.

The controlling argument in favor of the franchise, however, is that it proposes to give the residents on Webster street and north of the lake a street car service, which they earnestly desire and which they have no prospect of getting in a long time to come except by an independent line.

The matter will come up for hearing next Monday evening.

ENGLISH PAPERS DOWN ON GERMANY

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The attempt of the German naval authorities to destroy the San Carlos fortifications, capture a gunboat in Lake Maracaibo and interrupt the passage of supplies from Colombia is considered most inopportune by all English writers commenting on the affair, since it is a direct affront to the Washington government, which is striving to make peace, and procure a satisfactory settlement of outstanding claims, says the Tribune's London correspondent. According to the Berlin press, whatever is done on the coast of Venezuela is by joint authority. If Germany be guilty of unfriendly conduct toward the United States, England, as a partner in the alliance with Germany, involves England in any sort of trouble with the United States.

PLANS FOR TUNNEL TERMINAL.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 24.—Plans covering the arrangement of tracks in the Pennsylvania Railroad New York tunnel terminal and also for the handling of passengers and baggage in the great station have been fully worked out. The main station will be between Seventh and Eighth avenues, where there will be twenty-five tracks arranged in pairs, with passenger platforms between each pair long enough to take fifteen cars. West to Ninth avenue the tracks will be extended for storage uses. East of the terminal the tracks will converge into four, each of which will run under the East river in a separate tube. Under the Hudson river the plans call for two tunnels, at the station the tracks will be forty-two feet below the street level, but this depth is to be made to seem less by placing the passenger waiting rooms and ticket offices on a floor just half way down. Baggage and mail matter will be handled at about Eighth avenue.

BISHOP WATSON STRICKEN.

WILMINGTON, N. C., Jan. 24.—The Rt. Rev. Alfred Augustine Watson, Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of East Carolina, who is 85 years of age, has had a stroke of paralysis affecting his right side and arm at his home. It is said that the Bishop is perfectly conscious, but he is not expected to recover.

MANY MEN ARE ANXIOUS TO SUCCEED SENATOR BARD.

He Will be a Candidate to Succeed Himself—Grant, Oxnard, McLachlan, Shortridge, Scott, Knight, Pillsbury, Gage and De Young are Mentioned for the Senatorship.

BY GEO. F. HATTON.

(Special to THE TRIBUNE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.—The political wisecracks were their heads significantly when the question is asked of what are the prospects regarding the Senatorial election two years hence. At first thought it might seem somewhat premature to bring the subject under discussion at so early a date, but when it is remembered that in the present Senate there are fifteen Republicans who, as hold-overs, will participate in the election of Bard's successor, it can be seen that there is indeed occasion for prospective candidates to look around.

Every indication points to a battle royal when the Senatorial issue comes up in 1905. Since the time Steve White succeeded in carrying one of the two togas to the south it has become a fact under standing that the lower end of the State should have a Senator, and although the precedent has not been long enough established to make it a rule, the prospects are that it will prevail again two years hence. In any event, the candidates who come from the south will have the right-of-way over probable northern competitors as far as the first flush of public sentiment goes.

Although there have been varying reports from time to time as to Senator Bard's plans, it can be safely said that he will be a candidate for re-election. When he was recuperating from his recent severe illness the story went around that he only would not seek the office again, but that he would resign his present term, though that there was nothing to these yarns has been evidenced since his return to Washington. There is something about public life, especially the United States Senatorship, that draws many a man into the maelstrom of politics who has no business there, and although when he first started to serve his term Senator Bard frankly stated to his friends that the office had no particular attractions for him, his feelings in that regard have undergone a radical change and he now would be only too glad to get the opportunity to continue in his official seat for an additional six years.

Senator Bard, though, is said to be averse to entering upon the work of political organization that is necessary to pave the way to the Senatorship. His election in 1899 was brought about by a combination of circumstances that did not occasion his "doing politics" in the accepted sense of the expression, and he would now like to see matters resolve themselves in about the same way and enable him to accomplish his re-election without the necessity of engaging in a fierce political struggle.

The knowledge of the attitude thus assumed by Bard is what is spurring on other aspirants for the Senatorship to enter the lists, and the indication are that the next two years will witness one of the most bitterly fought Senatorial contests ever held in California. Four prospective participants are in sight already and it will not be surprising if as many more are added to the roll before six months pass by.

BARD'S ATTITUDE.

First comes Senator Bard. The prestige of being the incumbent will give him a good start and although some people profess to see that he has not a chance to be re-elected, it would not be so very surprising to find the bitter strife between the other competitors once more making him a compromise candidate and letting down the barriers for him as easily as was done last time.

GRANT'S HOPES.

U. S. Grant of San Diego is a certain candidate. He has not hesitated during the past few months to tell his friends that he expects to make another effort to land the grand prize and when Senator Ward of his home town was nominated in October last, he was induced by friends of Grant to give a signed statement to the press declaring that he would vote for Grant in 1905 if that individual should be a candidate. Grant has already done a little missionary work in other directions that can be considered in the line of preliminaries and before the present year is out it is understood that he will be launched as a full-fledged candidate and will be given one more opportunity to see if he can control the Legislature.

Although Grant's former campaign was a very expensive proposition, it is stated that he is not bothering about that feature of his fight, for his income is understood to be in the neighborhood of $50,000 a year and he has no hesitancy about diverting it into political channels if he can see a good prospect of turning the tide in his own direction. He already has a pretty large sized investment charged up to his Senatorial aspirations as a result of his campaign of four years ago, and he is inclined to consider it in the nature of a solid foundation for the structure he hopes to build this time.

Where Grant will experience his greatest trouble, though, is in the matter of his political associations. His campaign work in the past has been handled by Jim Kelly, Steve Kelly and that particular element of political workers in the southern end of the State. The elevation of Grant to the Senate, therefore, would be indicative of renewed efforts to place Steve Kelly in the Collectorship of Internal Revenue instead of John Lynch, and as that issue has been the rock upon which many a political craft has gone to pieces during the past couple of years, it is apparent that Grant has troublesome times ahead. Lynch and his friends will certainly battle the Grant program to a finish and the old-time war cry of "machine" and "anti-machine" will be resounding again as soon as the fight starts up in real earnest.

OXNARD IN EVIDENCE.

Henry T. Oxnard, the millionaire sugar-maker of Oxnard, Ventura county, knows of this condition of affairs and is inclined to take advantage of it. His long practical acquaintance with Washington's political life hatched a Senatorial bee in his bonnet three or four years ago and since that time he has been looking around to locate the best road to travel over. There was some talk during the recent Senatorial campaign that he was a candidate to succeed Senator Perkins, but there was nothing more to the rumors than the fact that Oxnard was doing some quiet figuring as to landing in 1906.

One obstacle in his way is the candidacy of Senator Bard. Not only do they both reside in the same county, but they are the best of friends and Oxnard feels under obligations to Bard for courtesies extended to him at Washington. He does not, therefore, like the idea of being an adversary to his neighbor and has stated that if Bard really gets into the fight upon lines where he has a chance of winning, he (Oxnard) will not be a candidate.

Oxnard, however, does not propose to sit down and see the prize picked up by Grant or some other aspirant. The position he has taken is that if Bard gets into the fight in real earnest, that is to say if he starts out to organize a campaign, then he can make the running alone from Ventura county. Should, however, Bard maintain his present attitude and decline to do any political work throughout the State, then Oxnard will jump into the arena as an avowed candidate and will put up the best fight he can.

Those who delight in a moneyed campaign are looking forward with glee to the possibilities of a duel between Grant and Oxnard. As the sugar man is credited with having added a million dollars to his bank account last year he would not be likely to let money stand in his way and in a contest of this nature it looks as if Grant would be badly outclassed.

M'KINLEY MENTIONED.

But there are other Richmonds in the field. Judge J. W. McKinley of Los Angeles has for the past few months been whispered around as a candidate. He would go into the fight with the backing of the Los Angeles organization and would doubtless be solidly backed by similar influences throughout the State. This support alone makes the Judge a strong candidate, in addition to which there are personal reasons why he would also become formidable. His record on the Superior bench stamped him as an able, clean-handed man, and while he has for the past few years been openly allied with the organization forces, his record is such that not a word can be truthfully said against him by the other elements. It was thought that he would be named for the Supreme bench by Governor Gage, when the vacancy occurred last month, but the Judge's practice is so extensive that he could not, in justice to himself, have afforded to take a position paying only $6,000 per annum.

McLACHLAN'S AMBITIONS.

Congressman McLachlan of Los Angeles is also high up on the list of possibilities. As his strength lies in almost exactly the same quarters as that of McKinley he would not be a candidate if the Judge gets into the fray, while, on the other hand, if McKinley does not run, McLachlan is the available man from that camp. His good record in Congress added to his surprising popularity in Los Angeles county, where he always weeps every thing before him at the polls, give him a good fighting chance and if he should prove to be the organization candidate he can be relied upon to put up a first-class run.

SHORTBRIDGE'S PLANS.

Shortridge will undoubtedly try again. While he was before the people as a candidate during the recent campaign, he did not attempt to press his claims in face of the pronounced Perkins strength, but rather was content with identifying himself with a Senatorial candidacy. Some of his friends have advised him that in the event that Livernash succeeds in holding his seat in Congress it would be a good idea for him to take the Republican nomination in the Fourth district next time. However, Shortridge is inclined to make his bid for the greater prize or nothing, and even though the cry will go up from the south that that end of the State is entitled to the Senator he will probably hoist his battle-flag again.

SCOTT MAY TRY.

Whether or not Irving M. Scott will essay another campaign so soon remains to be seen. He is said to be very much disappointed over the outcome of the recent set-to, when despite all the promises of his advisers and managers he only got one vote and that in caucus when Grove Johnson declared for him. Scott's two investments in the Senatorial field have in fact only been productive of securing for him a lot of newspaper abuse and losing him piles of money though he will not miss the latter as he cleared up over a million dollars when he disposed of his interests in the Union Iron Works to the Shipbuilding Trust.

KIGHT A POSSIBILITY.

George Knight too is keeping a weather eye on the Senatorship. He is in Europe just now but he will be back in a few months in plenty of time to get to work should he decide to shy his castor into the ring. He would like to be Senator all right but he balks at the idea of having to put out the lot of money necessary for a hard fight and then perhaps getting nothing in the end. For Knight's fortune cannot compare with that of Grant, Oxnard and Bard and then again he made it himself in his law office and consequently can thoroughly appreciate its value. Not that Knight is niggardly in any sense of the word; on the contrary he is generous to a fault and regards money as a medium of enjoyment for himself and his friends. He has seen a good many Senatorial campaigns, though, and he knows what a big hole would be dug in his fortune if he should get down to real earnest in an attempt to land the big prize.

PILLSBURY TALKED OF.

E. S. Pillsbury is also a possibility, in fact his name rightfully comes up for consideration whenever Senatorial issues are involved. He made a quiet bid for the toga at the time of the great Burns-Grant contest, but since then has done nothing more on direct lines but has confided himself to building up the vast fortune he has made in the legal business. Pillsbury is rated as a millionaire nowadays and those who claim to know, say that his practice does not fall much short of $100,000 a year.

GAGE'S POSITION.

Ex-Governor Gage too must be remembered in connection with the next Senatorship. It will be remembered that he was General Ols' original Southern candidate for the place and although there has been a marked change of feeling in that quarter, Gage nevertheless retains strong elements of strength in his home county. To some of those who have talked with him on the subject he has indicated that he would not be a candidate but it is believed that if he has a good year's business in his Los Angeles law offices he might not be averse to joining in the fray.

AS TO DE YOUNG.

Whether or not Editor M. H. De Young of the Chronicle, is looking towards Washington is known only to himself. It is more of a power today than ever before, for in addition to the vast influence of his paper, his many shrewd investments have made him a multi-millionaire. He made a fortune last year alone, in real estate transactions in San Francisco and it would surprise most people if they could see a list of the income-bearing properties he owns in the metropolis. The whole thing is nothing his rapid progress in the race for wealth say that he has never made a bad speculation and that the same executive ability that marked his handling of the Midwinter Fair and his upbuilding of his newspaper, property has distinguished all his outside operations.

There may be other candidates later on, but those named comprise the list made up today. The fact that unless they can succeed Bard, they will have to forego all ambitions for six years at least, will spur on the northern aspirants to create a disregard for the sentiment that the Senator should be from the South and it would not be surprising if the coming two years witnesses the fiercest struggle for the toga that California has seen since the days of the historic Stanford-Sargent feud.

HATTON.

DEATH CLAIMS A PIONEER OF OAKLAND

Albert Jewett Rollins, one of Oakland's best known and oldest citizens died in San Francisco January 18th of apoplexy. The deceased was widely known, and was one of the early pioneers of the State, and for twenty-two years was a resident of this city.

Mr. Rollins was born in Pittston, Maine, on August 25, 1828, and was of Puritan stock. He was a kinsman of the Dearborn family of New York, who were connected with General Dearborn of Revolutionary fame and who later was Secretary of War under President Jefferson.

The deceased began his career as a ship carpenter and in the year 1849, left Boston for San Francisco on the ship "The Commodore" and was met by Captain George Dearborn. The vessel arrived in the harbor of San Francisco in October of the same year, while the cholera was epidemic in that city. Carpenters in those days were scarce in Golden Gate city, and Mr. Rollins at once obtained all the work he desired at $30 per day. This was at the time that eggs, apples and oranges brought $1 apiece. It was not long before Mr. Rollins had a big bank account and in soon sold himself owner of about three acres of land in the very heart of what San Francisco is today. He tired of city life, sold out his possessions and with others sought fortune in the mountains of California and Nevada. At one time Mr. Rollins owned all of where Carson City, Nevada, is now located, which was then called Eagle Pass Valley, where he met and was intimately associated with Kit Carson and Mark Twain. He built a theater in Nevada upon the stage of which Lottie Crabtree, the famous actress made her debut. He also built the first theaters in Carson City and Reno, Nevada. In the year 1880, he met and married Rebecca Bolton, niece of Major James Houston. Six children were born to them, four of whom survive him. They are Mrs. Parkinson, Mrs. Logan, Mrs. Owen and Warren F. Rollins, the latter a sketch artist who is at present in this city, but spends most of his time among the redskins of Montana. Mr. Rollins had many warm friends, who will regret to learn of his demise. His remains were interred at the home of his daughter, at Antioch, Contra Costa county.

Miss Grace Rollins, formerly of West Oakland, is making a hit as an organist in New York City in the Franz Kaltenborn Chamber Music concert.

Miss Rollins is an organist of rare ability and her playing has called forth the praises of the critics of the metropolis. She attracted the attention of Kaltenborn, the famous violinist, when he went to New York and was engaged by him to play at his concerts where such eminent artists as Raoul Pugno, John Cheshire, Louis Heine and Gustav Bach are heard.

GRACE ROLLINS MAKING A HIT.

SEARCHING FOR A MISSING MAN. The services of Chief of Police Hodgkins have been solicited by friends of John H. Wilson of Syracuse, New York. Wilson left home on the 15th of last October and has been heard from but once since then. That was on November 1st, he is supposed to be here. His wife and child are anxious to see him and will come to him or pay his expenses East if he will return. He is described as a man about 40 years of age 5 feet 11 inches in height and weighs about 150 or 160 pounds. His complexion is dark and he has hazel eyes.

HABEAS CORPUS TO TEST COMMITMENT.

Habeas corpus proceedings to secure the release of Frank Peterson, the alleged incorrigible youth who was sent a few days ago to the Preston Reform School, will be heard tomorrow morning before Judge Ellsworth. Attorney H. S. Robinson claims the commitment was illegal and proposes to test the law in the matter. The other three boys who were committed to the Reform School, Willie Olva, Frank Llewellyn and George Oster, were taken to home today by County Sheriff White.

The Ills of Women Act upon the Nerves like a Firebrand.

The relation of woman's nerves and generative organs is very close; consequently nine tenths of the nervous prostration, nervous despondency, "the blues," sleeplessness, and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the organism which makes her a woman. Hence we prove conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will quickly relieve all this trouble.

Details of a Severe Case Cured in Eau Claire, Wis.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been ailing from female trouble for the past five years. About a month ago I was taken with nervous prostration, accompanied at certain times before menstruation with fearful headaches. I read one of your books, and finding many testimonials of the beneficial effects of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, experienced by lady sufferers, I commenced its use and am happy to state that after using a few bottles I feel like a new woman, aches and pains all gone. I am recommending your medicine to many of my friends, and I assure you that you have my hearty thanks for your valuable preparation which has done so much good. I trust all suffering women will use your Vegetable Compound."—MRS. MINNIE TRETZ, 620 First Ave., Eau Claire, Wis. (May 28, 1901.)

Nothing will relieve this distressing condition so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it soothes, strengthens, heals and tones up the delicate female organism. It is a positive cure for all kinds of female complaints; that bearing down feeling, backache, displacement of the womb, inflammation of the ovaries, and is invaluable during the change of life, all of which may help to cause nervous prostration.

Read what Mrs. Day says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I will write you a few lines to let you know of the benefit I have received from taking your remedies. I suffered for a long time with nervous prostration, backache, sick headache, painful menstruation, pain in the stomach after eating, and constipation. I often thought I would lose my mind. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and was soon feeling like a new woman. I cannot praise it too highly. It does all that it is recommended to do, and more. I hope that every one who suffers as I did will give Lydia E. Pinkham's remedy a trial."—MRS. MARIE DAY, Eleonora, Pa. (March 23, 1901.)

Free Medical Advice to Women.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all women to write to her for advice. You need not be afraid to tell her the things you could not explain to the doctor—your letter will be seen only by women and is absolutely confidential. Mrs. Pinkham's vast experience with such troubles enables her to tell you just what is best for you, and she will charge you nothing for her advice.

Another Case of Nervous Prostration Cured.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Allow me to express to you the benefit I have derived from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I started to take it I was on the verge of nervous prostration. Could not sleep nights, and I suffered dreadfully from indigestion and headache. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's wonderful medicine, and began its use, which immediately restored my health.

"I can heartily recommend it to all suffering women."—MRS. BERTHA E. DERRINS, 25 1/2 Laidge St., San Francisco, Cal. (May 21, 1901.)

A BIG PLOT NIPPED IN THE BUD

SALT LAKE, Utah, Jan. 24.—A special to the Tribune from Red Lodge, Mont., says that officers of Carbon county have evidence in their possession showing that the famous Bridger bank robbery last October was only intended as the first step in one of the biggest plots in the criminal history of Montana.

The statement is made by a high county official that when the cases of the Bridger bank robbers came before the District Court the prosecution will prove that it was intended by the gang after the successful robbery of the Bridger bank to assemble twenty men in Western Carbon county and make a raid on Red Lodge and loot the three banks in that city. The plan was frustrated by the capture of the men who are said to have robbed the Bridger bank.

This is the second time a plot has been formed to raid Red Lodge. Last summer officers received word that the Hole-in-the-Wall crowd were on their way to hold up the town. The desperadoes, however, learned that the officers were prepared to receive them and abandoned the plan.

SHIP MAY HAVE GONE DOWN. VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 24.—The steamer Miower brought news from Honolulu that great anxiety is being felt at that port for the ship Florence, which was forty-five days out from Tacoma for Honolulu when the Miower sailed on January 1st, and has not since been reported. She sailed from Puget Sound on December 2, during a heavy gale. The S. D. Carleton preceded the Florence out of the Straits and Captain Amesbury of that vessel says that he fears that something has happened to the Florence.

The S. C. Allen sailed from Elele on January 12th, with 14,400 bags of sugar. The bark Antiope sailed for Port Townsend for orders from Makia on January 15.

Fifty-seven of the Japanese immigrants who arrived at Honolulu by the steamer Gaelic were refused a landing on account of having trachoma.

The agents of the steamer have filed a protest against the decision of the collectors in refusing the landing.

USE THE ROD. NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Truth tells of a method dealing summarily with female kleptomaniacs of gentle birth, which is followed in certain West End shops, says a London dispatch to the Herald.

Every woman detected in the act of shoplifting is given her option of being prosecuted in court or being birched by the manageress, a person specially selected for her birches. The birch is a formidable weapon.

"In one shop-alone," says Truth, twenty women have accepted the ordeal of birching, in addition to two young girls

POSTPONED ENJOYMENT.

The only way to be happy is to take advantage of the little opportunities that come to us to brighten life as we go along, says a writer in a recent number of Success. To postpone enjoyment day after day, and year after year, until we get more money or a better position, the means to travel or buy works of art, to build an elegant mansion, or to attain some distant goal of ambition, is to cheat ourselves not only of present enjoyment, but also of the power to enjoy in the future.

Speaking of looking forward to happiness, some one has aptly said: "I would as soon chase butterflies for a living or bottle moonshine for a cloudy night." Postponed enjoyment is always a failure. Many young married people, starting with little capital, work like slaves for years, putting aside every opportunity for pleasure or relaxation, denying themselves the luxury of an occasional outing, attendance at a theater or concert, a trip to the country or the purchase of a coveted book, and postponing even their reading and general culture until they shall have more leisure and more money. Each year they promise themselves that by the following year they will be ready to take life easier, perhaps to indulge in a little travel. When the next year comes, however, they feel that they must economize a while longer. Thus they put off their enjoyment from year to year, scarcely realizing the import of the fact that each successive postponement causes less pain than the previous ones.

At length the time comes when they decide that they can afford to indulge in a little pleasure. Perhaps they go abroad, or they try to enjoy music and works of art, or attempt to broaden their minds by reading and study. But it is too late. They have become hopelessly wedged into the rut the years have made for them. The freshness of life has departed. Enthusiasm has fled. The fire of ambition is dead. The long years of waiting have crushed the capacity to enjoy. The possessions for which they have sacrificed all their natural and healthy longings for joy and brightness have turned to Dead sea fruits.

Such lives, which are repeated in thousands of homes all about us, are almost worthless. They contribute little to the sum of human happiness and progress. Such living is no real life; it is only existence.

Has life no higher meaning than to draw in the breath and blow it out again? Has it no broader significance than that indicated by the dollar mark, or by lands, houses and a big bank account? Why did the Creator make us in his image and put within us marvelous powers, if they are to be mocked, or allowed to die without development or satisfaction? If man is to live like a brute, why does he bear the human form, the impress of divinity?

Aspiration for enjoyment and longing for brightness and happiness were not implanted in us without a purpose. Our unfoldment, just as truly as ambitious, desire for knowledge or beauty, or virtue, or any of the other nobler qualities of mankind. As a rule, the man who cultivates a habit of enjoyment, who gladly avails himself of the opportunity each day offers to indulge in some innocent pleasure, to brighten and broaden his life by listening to good music, looking at rare works of art, studying the beauties of nature, or reading an inspiring book, will unconsciously find himself far ahead, in the race for success, of the one who postpones all his enjoyment and relaxation until he has accumulated a fortune.

MRS. CARNEGIE'S DRESSING TABLE.

Mrs. Carnegie has a dressing table which is the very smartest thing that has been seen for many years. The dressing table has curved legs of white wood, with painted strips of shaded red and pink, and the marble top is painted in large bunches of shaded pink roses with bow-knots of ribbon in several shades of pink tying them together. The oval looking-glass with marble setting is most effective and artistic in design. The same design is carried out as on the top of the table. The glass is set deep and has a projecting frame, which is daintily painted in small, shaded, full-blown roses and leaves.

MAHOGANY FURNITURE.

Unfinished mahogany is the latest aspirant for popular favor in the line of drawing room furniture. Artistic cabinets are made entirely of this new wood, in the colonial style. Across the front is a decoration of solid gold bronze leaves, which extends diagonally over the glass doors and accentuates the rich dull tones of the mahogany. When used for chair and sofa frames, the trimmings are smaller sprays or empire wreaths of the bronze.

AS TO SALAD BOWLS.

Wooden salad bowls are pretty and appropriate. Burnt wood has been rather overdone, but decoration in green leaves is especially attractive for these bowls. Carved and inlaid bowls are also seen. A wooden fork and spoon accompany the bowl, with decorations to match.

GLASS TEA TRAYS.

The newest and prettiest tea trays are oblong, with brass or wooden handles and a glass bottom which may be removed to admit a piece of burnt leather or rich fabric, racing print, or other decoration. Glass is being used also in the manufacture of bathtubs. The glass is about three inches thick and annealed to make the tub durable. The effect is clean and beautiful. The idea is a German one and is rapidly gaining favor in this country.

SHE WAS PREPARED.

Not long ago a woman who had been well known in society for more years than other women who take such a step decided to go on the stage. Her friends had confidence in her ability and her subsequent success proved the wisdom of her course. Women rarely begin a career at her age, especially a career that requires a certain amount of physical comeliness. This stage aspirant possessed that advantage in a large degree. But she no longer had enough teeth. In private life her own had served. But in the opinion of her friends they would not stand the searching glare of the footlights, which show with cruel distinctness every sign of age in spite of the popular delusion that women look better on the stage.

It was settled that some of her friends must attract the attention of the mature beginner to this defect. There was long discussion as to whose duty this really was. All feared to attempt it. Finally one intimate, having courageously taken on her shoulders the painful duty, asked the lady to drive with her. Their conversation turned toward her approaching debut as an actress. Without further delay and thinking how very necessary the new teeth were the good friend said:

"And I've something very important to say to your going on the stage, which I know you won't mind from an old friend like me. I hesitate to mention the subject, but—"

"Oh, don't you worry, dearest," was the unconcerned answer. "They're ordered already. I'm going to wear them for the first time to-morrow."

ITALIAN CROQUETS.

Melt one tablespoon of butter, add two tablespoons of flour, one-fourth teaspoon of salt, one saltspoon of pepper, one-fourth teaspoon of celery salt, speck of cayenne. Then add slowly one-half cup of good meat stock (or roast beef gravy) and one-half cup of tomatoes which have been cooked with a bit of bay leaf, slice of onion, a few cloves, allspice and pepper-corns, and strained. Then add three-fourths cup of macaroni, which has been boiled 20 minutes in salted water and chopped fine or cut in tiny rings, and one and one-fourth cups of cold cooked beef, chopped fine. Shape into croquets, roll in crumbs, egg and crumbs, and fry in deep fat.

OYSTER CROQUETS.

Wash and pick over one pint of oysters, cook till plump in their own juice, drain, and cut in uniform pieces. For one cup of these pieces, melt 1½ tablespoons of butter; add ¾ tablespoons of flour, one-half cup of milk or thin cream, one teaspoon of lemon juice, one-fourth teaspoon of salt, one-fourth saltspoon of pepper. Then add the cupful of cut oysters. Cook two minutes, cool, shape into croquets on a floured board, dip in egg, roll in bread crumbs, fry in deep fat. This will make about a dozen croquets.

WHAT LOVE IS.

During the recent engagement of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Milton Royle in St. Louis, there was a most unexpected interruption to the play of "Capt. Impudence." "Love!" says Lucretia Bugg in the play. "Ugh! What is love?" Royle had just repeated the question, "What is love?" when a fifty infant in the balcony let out a strenuous yawn that scraped bits of the fresco off the ceiling. With the instinct of self-preservation, the actor raised his hand toward the baby and said: "That's love! let it go at that." The audience laughed until they cried.

THE REASON WHY.

The Bachelor—I've often wondered why women always turn to the end of a novel first. The Benedict—So did I before I was married. I know now. The Bachelor—Put me next. The Benedict—It's because they are bound to have the last word.

SUITED HIS CASE.

"Kin youse gimme or hite ter cat, lady?" queried the dusty tramp. "I haven't anything cooked," was the reply, "but I can give you a piece of loaf cake, if that will satisfy you." "Thanks, lady," answered the hobo. "If it tastes like it sounds I reckon it's jest wot I'm lookin' fer."

AT HOME.

"Maria," said the man who was always complaining about his meals, etc., "when I was hunting up in Maine the papers had an account of me being mistaken for a bear." "I don't understand it," replied the meek little woman. "Don't understand what?" "Why they should have called it a mistake."

BEAUTY IN THE HOME--THE SHAKER BONNET

BEAUTY IN THE HOME.

More power for the beauty and charm of a home lies in the little things of common use than most women realize. The appearance of the useful things in the household is like the little things in dress. It is the dainty neckpiece, the spotless gloves and the care bestowed on the dozen other accessories to the toilet that make the well-gowned woman, and the lack of which will ruin the smartest tailor-made. So the woman who has truly at heart the beauty of her house takes as much pains in selecting a pin tray or candle stick as in choosing a large piece of furniture. In each of these she may, if she will, introduce into her home a veritable little work of art, something that will be a continual source of pleasure, as well as a potent, though unfeigned, influence upon the artistic judgment of those who must continually see and handle it.

Usefulness, of course, is the prime consideration in such articles. But usefulness should never condone a lack of beauty. How perfectly the most artistic ideas will blend with and help carry out the utilitarian purposes of even the most ordinary objects is shown by the designs of an artist who is making it his mission to teach women this lesson of the beauty of things of every day use.

Some of the common utensils of every day usage that have been designed by C.

H. Barr have a peculiar artistic value.

A silver tea caddy is engraved with the design of tea plants and decorated with the heads of Chinese mandarins. From the heads of the little mandarins on the handle of the caddy, the cues wind forth, one on each side, to support a silver teaspoon and a strainer. In the designing of the odd Egyptian smoking set, of bronze, the important fact that the pipes should hang downward to keep the moisture in the bowls has not been overlooked. On the tray bowls are provided for the ashes and matches, and a tobacco box accompanies the set.

In the candle stick, formed like a lily leaf, with the head of a water nymph upon the handle, the usefulness of the article as well as the artistic thought has been worked out to the smallest particular. The stem of the larger leaf forms the handle, while that of the smaller twines upward to form the support for the candle. A bud, conventional in design, rises upon one side to hold the matches. The extinguisher, on the other, is formed of a leaf, curled. A pair of bronze candle sticks representing fauns, the horns upon whose foreheads rise up and intertwine to support lotus flowers, are as unique as they are beautiful.

An artistic conception of a pair of sugar tongs is one showing two little sea horses each supporting a shell on its back. Very appropriate is the head of Medusa as the center of the back of a hand mirror made of bronze. An artistic thought is perfectly carried out with simplicity of effect in a silver egg boiler, the decoration on the top of which is the head of a steer, the long horns twisting out to form a handle. The handle of the body of the dish is wrought in the form of a steer's tail, while the cloven hoofs of cattle form the four legs.

There is no excuse for ugliness today, even for the woman of the most limited purse. No matter what article is desired, a little searching will reveal one that is at least good in shape and coloring, if not exactly beautiful. But many women will rush into a shop to purchase three or four cheap candlesticks for use about the house, and will buy without hesitation those of bright red or sickly blue enamel or the ones of plain agate ware, which lack the least claim to prettiness. For the same price they could procure elsewhere dainty candlesticks of blue and white china; or by taking still more time and trouble they might go to one of the little curio shops with which New York abounds and procure for not a cent more an old Dutch candlestick of brass, which represents art in its purest, simplest form.

"No, it's not pretty, but then I'm not so particular about these. They're just for every day use," a woman was overheard to say in one of our large shops last week. And forthwith she ordered to her home a set of dessert plates from a bargain sale covered with large flowers crude in form and coloring. Doubtless that same woman would have been most particular in selecting the cups in which she would serve tea to her friends in the afternoon. But those ugly plates were what her family must see every day, and to that crude coloring the eyes of her children would gradually grow accustomed. When one thinks of the immense amount of hideous stuff sold "because it is cheap," or "just for ordinary use," one realizes how many women there are who never think of one of woman's most womanly duties—to diffuse as much beauty as possible into her life and the lives of those around her.

THE SHAKER BONNET.

A correspondent of the Louisville Courier Journal gives the following interesting account of the Shaker Settlement in Kentucky, and the making of the quaint Shaker bonnet.

A visit to Shakerstown, in Kentucky, the home of the quaint little bonnet, so picturesquely becoming to young faces and to those a "little older grown" was my pleasure recently.

The ponderous door of a grim-looking stone building that bears the date over the entrance, 1811, A. D., swung open at my knock. A prim, sweet-faced sister, with a tender smile on her aged and wrinkled face that bore still some suggestion of beauty, held out a long, slender hand, that shook as with the palsy, and bade me enter.

"Yea, you, child, but I am glad to see you," was the greeting that Sister Betsy gave me.

I was ushered into a long, wide hall that extended the length of the building, fully 100 feet, with rooms opening on either side, and cosy little cut-off corners—goodness only knows for just what they were originally used. In some of them I could well believe that gobins held congress and spoke revealed by day as well as by night. I held my breath and drew my skirts around me, and with only a glance into the chapel, where the religious service is held, the sisters sitting on one side and the brothers on the opposite, I hurried on with Sister Betsy.

We went up a long stairway and into a large, bright room, with windows looking toward the rising sun.

Such an attractive bare room it was, clean and wholesome, where the dear old lady had spent the greater part of her life; seventy-five years, happy and contented with her lot, had she been here. She had seen the beginning of this village, the prosperity and growth, numbering more than 500, not so very many years ago. Now, when there is no more young life in the settlement, the greater part of the land has been sold and only a few men and women remain, most of whom have lived already the allotted years. Sister Betsy seems as happy and content as ever. She talked of the time when she was young, so many, many years ago, and gave me the history of the Shaker bonnet.

In the early days of this quaint people the necessity was felt for a covering for the head, different from that worn by the outside world. The ingenious mind, with artistic taste of one in the village, devised a style at once attractive and becoming. I was shown the loom on which the straw was first woven. A crude hand-made affair nearly seventy years old, but still used, without change or improvement, to weave the pretty bonnets.

The wool into which the straw is woven comes from Florida. Twenty years ago the last shipment of the tropical palmetto was made to Shakerstown, and there is yet some store. A primitive knife with funny little blades of steel, set in a simple block of wood, is used to cut into fine threads strips of dried palmetto. These threads, strong and supple, are fastened securely into the hand-made loom, which is worked by a foot pedal. The glossy rye-straw, with its pale yellow color, is prepared by being soaked thoroughly in water, and is split by being drawn over the same knife that made threads of the palmetto. It is then woven into the wool, much the same as is the rag carpet. When a piece is finished large enough to frame the face and crown of the bonnet, it is carefully cut from the loom and made thoroughly wet again.

It is then tacked with small nails to position on a solid block of wood shaped similar to the head, and with a hot flat-iron is pressed until perfectly dry, being left on the form for twenty-four hours.

It is then ready to finish with wire on the edge and sewed together. A piece of silk, usually of a quiet gray color, is fashioned into a skirt or tail of the bonnet, making altogether a fetching little head covering, notwithstanding its primness.

The silkworms were raised on the farm; in fact, everything worn by the men and women was manufactured by the Shakers right in their own village and on the farms, where they number up in the hundreds. Young faces were so plentiful that it was jokingly said that babies grew on bushes in Shakerstown. It was ever a home for the friendless; the orphan and foundlings were adopted and grew to worthy men and women. But not so now; there is not one youthful face in the settlement, now numbering altogether thirty, yet happiness and content fill the lives of the few remaining, and on the deep furrowed faces of the dear old sisters there rests such a sweet, at-ease-with-the-world expression that one turns away with a sigh of half envy to take up the bubbles and troubles of life.

There is only the one, Sister Betsy, now 82 years old, who can weave and fashion to perfection the quaint bonnet, and only a little longer will she be able to do so; her fingers will soon have lost their cunning and the pretty Shaker bonnet will be no more.

WORK OF WOMEN IN MANY DEPARTMENTS

OWNS A PRIVATE CAR.

The first woman in the world to own a private touring railroad car will be Mrs. Isaac E. Emerson of Baltimore.

Captain and Mrs. Emerson have gone to New York to enter into a discussion of the plans for the new car with a representative of the Pullman company and place an order which will tax the ingenuity of the builders.

Mrs. Emerson, unlike her husband, abhors yachting. And yet she likes to travel. As a Christmas gift Captain Emerson proposed the touring car.

Since Christmas Mrs. Emerson, with an expert railway officer, has been studying car construction and now has a pretty clear idea of what she wishes for the comfort of herself and guests during the long tours projected.

The car will be one of the largest ever turned out by the Pullman company. Mahogany will be the basis of the interior woodwork, but the richest silk draperies and the softest and thickest of carpets will almost conceal it. Bath rooms, with every appliance, will be built. There will be at least four state rooms, a parlor-library, a dining-room and a kitchen.

The car will be furnished as a permanent migratory house, with its own silver, cut glass, linen and upholstery. It will be in commission at all times, so that it can be started at any hour of the day or night that Mrs. Emerson elects.

Mrs. Emerson said that she contemplated a number of "travelling house parties" as soon as the luxurious vehicle was completed, and that she and her friends "would see every foot of this country, as well as Canada and Mexico."

The car will be named the Emily, which is Mrs. Emerson's given name.

RIGHTS OR PRIVILEGES.

After all that has been done for American women by legislators and educators, and college builders and reformers, it still remains true that the most valuable possession a normal woman can acquire is a suitable and satisfactory man. Nothing else is quite so serviceable in promoting the fulfillment of her destiny and her content while it is in the process of fulfillment. Nothing else, if she is normal—and there are very few women who are not considerably normal—quite takes a man's place with her. One of her most valuable privileges is that of selecting her man, of picking and choosing and taking her time about it, and possibly even of changing her mind after she had begun to think she knew it. It is observed that women who are good, and have the luck to be charming also, have great advantages in carrying this important process of selection to a successful issue. More men are available for such girls to choose from, and once the choice is made the resulting contentment is more apt to endure and to wax, instead of diminishing. The most that legislatures can do more for married women is to protect them from bad husbands. Choosing good ones is a matter of personal enterprise which laws can do little to promote. But of course a woman who has few rights and is in complete possession of a satisfactory and competent husband is better off than if she had more rights and no satisfactory means of realizing her destiny. If the American girl ever has to choose between her rights and her privileges—including the privilege of being charming—and this invaluable privilege of selecting a man that suits her—she will undoubtedly do well, as Miss Daskam advises, to hold on to her privileges and let her rights go. But she will hardly have to make such a choice. She will retain her privileges, anyway, and all the rights she can make up her mind to want, besides—Harper's Weekly.

CHIVALROUS AMERICANS.

We were not so overly far from Cheyenne when the Russian, going down to the Overland limited's barber shop with me for his shampoo and bath, said:

"Your American women make me think so much of those of my own country. They are so independent, so well able to take care of themselves. Our Japanese cannot recover from the shock of knowing that two ladies may safely journey from your Lake Michigan to California without some relative to care for them. In his country all women are dependent, sheltered until they are helpless."

"In America," said I, "the women come first. No nation, not even our own, does her so much honor as ours. The first, the highest, the truest ambition of every American of honor is to care for his women—his mother, his sweetheart, his wife or his sister. No corporations understand this better than the railways."

They have studied this phase of American travel so closely that a woman may journey where she will, alone, and have the entire protection of the railroad president about her. From engineer to president of the road she may feel, although she is an utter stranger to them, that they will care for her legitimate needs and accord her the courtesy due her sex. It matters little whether she is in these luxurious compartment cars, in the comfortable tourist sleepers, in the easy chair coaches, or the day coach of any train, she can travel where she will, unmolested.

CONFIDENTIAL ADVISORS.

And yet a new occupation for woman has been invented, that of confidential adviser for a trust company. Her business is to meet women who come on any business with the company, to confer, advise and assist them in every way. It has been long noticed by the officials of some great trust company (the New York Commercial Advertiser does not give the name) that many women do not like to talk of their money affairs to a man, over the counter, with other men standing by. And some few weeks ago this company fitted up an office with pretty furniture, pots of ferns and palms, and gave it over to this woman adviser, and all women are directed to her, with the result that they are pleased and the firm has appreciably added to its business. The office does not look like business, although it is, and women sit down and talk over their affairs with the obliging adviser, who can give them the information they need, suggest their opening an account with the company, and explain all about the safe deposit boxes. It is unnecessary to point out the fact that it is really more agreeable for many women to do business with a woman, particularly when they feel themselves ignorant in business methods; they feel sensitive to the imagined or outspoken comments of the teller or cashier, but the woman in her private room, who is in no hurry, and is desirous to be useful, is quite another and quite agreeable person. This is a clever action on the part of the trust company, and it is said that others are talking of following suit.

ON LOOKING HAPPY.

At a recent meeting of an art club at which were twenty-five members it was impossible to find one really happy-looking woman. The lines of anxiety, the puckered brows and drooping mouths, made one member feel that she would like suddenly to flash a mirror into each face and say: "Can't you look a little more pleasant, even if you don't feel like it, just for the sake of those around you?" Think of sitting opposite a woman twice—perhaps three times—a day, and seeing always a look of care and worry. One couldn't blame a man for getting discouraged. The same thing can be seen in cars, at lectures and in fact everywhere, and even some young girls and children have the same disagreeable expression. If this careworn look has become such a part of the present generation that we cannot part with it, let us at least impress future generations with the fact that it is not only a thousand pities to spoil their freshness with all these needless lines and frowns, but a real wrong besides. One expects to look older at forty than at twenty, yet need one look as though she alone had all the hard times?

POETRY PICKED TO PLEASE AND INSTRUCT

THREE SONGS.

Songs of my soul are three: And one is the song of the sea.

And one is the song of the road (The staff, the shoon, and the load).

And one is the song of a star Above me, mysterious, far.

And that—which is God!—guides me All the way on the road to the sea. —Richard Kirk.

THE JEWELS.

Here is a ruby, my heart that has bled for you; Here are white pearls, the prayers I have said for you; Lo! here are diamonds, tears I have shed for you.

Yea, here are opals, the thoughts I have thought for you; Here are dear moonstones, the dreams I have wrought for you,

Set in the gold of my love that is naught to you! —Lucile Watson.

A ROMANCE IN RUFFLES.

I wore this frock when first we met. One Summer afternoon. An airy muslin, frilled and flounced, With sprays of roses stown; This was the gown of yellow crepe, By Felix deftly planned, That marked the dinner where he dared Gently to press my hand.

This pale-blue chiffon, silver-fringed, A dream of elegance, Was witness of the tender hour When we sat out the dance, And he, in tones of music, begged One little flower; and this Pink satin ribbon me, when, beneath The moon, he stole a kiss.

This was the simple, girlish dress Of pure and fleecy white, In which he vowed I looked so sweet He could not say good night.

And bent his dark and handsome head To my enraptured, blushing breast, And breathed the low, impassioned words: "I love you, love you, dear!"

This sweeping silk of somber black, With bodice close and high, I wore the rainy day he called To bid us all good-bye. Behold how soon the moths have made The dainty things their prey; His passion, too, was flimsy stuff, He loved—and rode away! —Minna Irving in The Smart Set.

TO MY OLD CALENDAR.

No friend has proved more faithful than you. My old year's calendar; You've been so loyal, and stanch, and true.

My plain old calendar: January dawned with the year all aglow, February gleamed with its mantle of snow, The March winds did not forget to blow;

Did they, old calendar?

More days you have given of joy than pain.

Good old year's calendar; Would you care to live them over again?

Would you, old calendar? April failed not with its gentle showers, May followed blushing with buds and flowers.

Then June's dreamy days and sunny hours, O kind old calendar!

You've been a truthful and trusty guide All the year, calendar;

'Tis with a pang I lay you aside, Dear old year's calendar;

July came with buzz and drone of bees, August bore thoughts of comfort and ease, September the cool, and refreshing breeze;

Growing old, calendar!

A new year is coming with stately tread, Poor old year's calendar;

Four hours, and days, and seasons have sped, Farwell, old calendar!

October's days were tinted with gold, November's blessings were manifold, December is here—dying—is cold!

THE MAGIC CALL.

Think you the day of miracles has fled? I stood beside a human heart—a tomb—Cold, silent, unhealed, filled with ghosts and gloom.

And saw a resurrection of the dead. One stood before the tomb, with lifted head.

And eyes of strange, sweet fire. He called, and lo!

Forms came forth that were buried long ago. At sound of the three magic words he said.

Youth, smiling-eyed, tearing the grave-clothes through; Hope, breaking all the bandages of death; And laughter, ringing off her wreath of rue;

Joy, drawing in a long, delicious breath— Ah, these I saw burst into perfect bloom When the low call, "I love you!" pierced the tomb!

—Venita Seibert.

LOOK FORWARD.

Turn not in vain regret To thy fond yesterday, But rather forward set, Thy face toward the untrodden ways.

Open thine eyes to see The good in store for thee, New love, new thought, new service too. For him who daily maketh thy life new.

Nor think that aught is lost Or left behind upon the silent coast. Of thy spent years;

Give up thy faithless fears, Whate'er of real good,— Of thought, or deed, or holier mood,— Thy life hath known.

Abideth still thine own, And hath within significance Of more than Time's inheritance.

Thy good is prophecy Of better still to be.

In the future thou shalt find How far the fact hath left behind Thy fond dream: how deeper than all sense Or thought of thine, thy life's sure Providence.

—F. L. Hosmer.

THE SICK DOLL.

Don't laugh at this poor sick doll, It hasn't the whooping cough; We washed its face with the wash-cloth, And the paint it all came off.

And sister, she cried about it, But now we don't mind at all. We play it's a snail-pox patient, And no other doll may call.

NEW ATTRACTIONS AT ALL THE PLAYHOUSES.

Murray and Mack and the Devil's Auction Coming to Macdonough Theater— News of Other Theaters.

"The Man from Sweden," which was presented at the Macdonough last night and will be repeated tonight, is a play which has been stamped with the approval of leading critics in all the large cities in the East where it has been presented. With the heretofore described scenes as a background for the exciting situations and thrilling climaxes interwoven with wholesome comedy, there leaves little doubt but that local theater goers have a treat in store for them. Managers Broadway and Currie have numerous large attractions on the road, but they say that this is their best effort. Mr. Erickson is unrivaled in his presentation of Swedish character roles and has unlimited scope to display his talents in this new and original play. The first act shows the exterior of a farm house in Minnesota with its picturesque surroundings. The view from the interior of the farm house to the visitors of Miss Jefferson's farm. The scene suggests all the innocent pleasures most of us have known in our childhood. The next scene shows the interior of the farm house on Christmas eve. The cozy fireplace is aglow and everything suggests peace and good will, so appropriate to the season of the year. During the act a wonderful reproduction of a Minnesota blizzard is presented in a manner as natural as the stage mechanic's art will permit. Then the scene shifts to Minneapolis, where some of the characters form the background of an undecurrent of exciting events. The characters introduced are possible human beings and the plots, situations and climaxes plausible enough for the audience to recognize their possibilities. During the action of the play many bright vaudeville numbers are introduced, one by Mr. Erickson bearing the approval of the patrons of the leading music halls of Europe. The Novelty Comedy Four present the latest songs and as a finale novelty a Chinese character in the play sings con songs in a Chinese dialect, which all who have heard declare to be intimate.

MURRAY AND MACK COME TO MACDONOUGH.

It is not every one who can make a fortune out of laughs. Yet this is a result that has been achieved within the past few years by Murray and Mack, who will be seen at the Macdonough Theater next Sunday and Monday in their latest farcical creation, "A Night on Broadway." Many years ago Murray and Mack first entered the laugh producing business in knock-about work on the vaudeville stage. Their instantaneous success led to more ambitious efforts, and soon the imitators were branching out into farce comedy, where they became even more popular with the fun loving public. Then Murray and Mack got together a company of their own and started a series of farces. Since then comedians have appeared in the dramatic firmament who could dim the lustre of these irresistible delineators of Irish comedy. The first year that Murray and Mack had out "A Night on Broadway" they cleared up over $75,000; last year with the same piece they made almost double that amount, having two companies on the road at the same time, while this season this far has been the best these clever actor-managers have yet enjoyed. With "A Night on Broadway" they have been meeting with the greatest success. In addition to this piece Murray and Mack have eight different companies out, every one of which is coming money. To have the ability to cause laughter that Murray and Mack possess is better than owning a gold mine. There is not so much of an uncertainty. Murray and Mack have this season the largest company they have ever carried, which numbers fifty people. Lots of pretty girls, clever comedians and dainty dancers and a dazzling chorus of twenty beautiful young girls, including the latest European novelty, the "Five Francettes," are some of the attractions promised.

JUDITH AT THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

Commencing tomorrow (Sunday) evening and continuing during next week, "Judith" with Nance O'Neil as the Scriptural heroine, will be offered at the Grand Opera House.

The rehearsals during the past ten days give assurance of the artistic and dramatic success of the drama under the translated conditions and the situations and incidents which find a grouping in the story of Judith are of such a deep and ever-abiding interest that capacity audiences may be anticipated during the run of the attraction. Miss O'Neil is enthusiastic in her opinion of the great drama, and is confident that in the role of Judith she will attain still greater heights in her chosen profession in which she holds world-famed eminence. Those who have seen her at the rehearsals declare that she will be superb. She has entered into the character of the heroine with all the intensity and sincerity of her nature. That she will grace the interpretation given by Mme. Ristori no one doubts, and that the young American tragedienne will excel the European actress is anticipated by those who are able to parallel their respective powers. The drama will be magnificently staged and mounted and historically costumed. The scenic features alone have been made a study to bring out all that will in any way contribute to the success of the greatest of all Biblical dramas of the century.

DEVIL'S AUCTION WILL BE AT THE MACDONOUGH

Chas. H. Yale's "Everlasting Devil's Auction" will be at the Macdonough Theater Tuesday and Wednesday, January 27th and 28th.

For over a fifth of a century Chas. H. Yale has continuously kept the famous "Devil's Auction" before the public, the coming season marking the "one score and one" edition of this really marvelous attraction. Every year for twenty years it has been revised and brought up-to-date by the introduction of new and timely matter, clever novelties, original ideas in scenery and costumes, imported and native artists in all branches of the profession, sumptuous ballets and features that were exclusive to this attraction.

This year Manager Yale announces the twenty-first edition, and promises that it will exceed by far any former presentation of this great show play, for as usual, with the "Devil's Auction," it has been completely gone over, all old matter has been eliminated and new ideas, features, scenery, costumes and mechanical effects substituted, with not one old feature remains. The entire cast, principal dancers and ballets will be new, with among the special European features engaged may be mentioned Irene La Tour and Zaza, an unusual vaudeville novelty which will at once become a great favorite with the ladies and children; DeWitt and Burns, comedy acrobats and equilibrists, who combine dexterous acrobatic and handstand feats with pantomimic comicalities; the Dance to the Moon, a new, very original and exclusive idea which comes from Europe, consisting of a number of startling and unique light effects combined with other unusual features.

There are the grand ballets arranged by Aurelio Cocca, all of which are new in idea and sumptuously costumed. Each and every coryphee has been engaged for her personal appearance and ability, while the principal dancers, Emma and Fraulein Prager, who make their first appearance in this country with this attraction, are the very best type of the German premieres and are not only exceedingly clever artists but most prepossessing and beautiful women as well.

A magnificent new scene of transformation has been provided by Manager Yale, which for originality of idea and brilliancy of conception will, it is said, exceed by far anything in this line yet presented in this country. It is called "A Tribute to Our Country," and depicts in a spectacular way the beauties, charm and awe-inspiring scenes of The Garden of the Gods, Pike's Peak, the Mammoth Cave, Niagara Falls and other notable and never-to-be-forgotten wonders of America. This, with many other elaborate changes too numerous to particularize, promises to make the twenty-first edition of the "Devil's Auction" the most notable production of its phenomenal career.

CLEVER BILL AT THE NOVELTY THEATER

Another clever bill will be inaugurated at the Novelty Theater beginning January 30th. The program will include some of the best known vaudeville people in the business.

Among those scheduled are: Ed Long, "The Poetical Joke" direct from the Orpheum, San Francisco; the three Malvin Brothers, the famous acrobats, especially engaged at a large salary; Adrienne Langlois, the Parisian acrobatic dancer, accompanied by brilliant electrical effects. She comes direct from Paris. Friedlander Bros., America's premier comedy musical artists; Norman Stanley, the illustrated singer, who has made a hit. There will be 1,000 feet of new moving pictures from Europe and the East.

Manager Lub-lub is sparing no expense in obtaining the best talent to be had, thus giving the best show in the country for the admission charged—10 cents.

CARO ROMA HEARD AT THE TIVOLI

"The Mikado" again will be at the Tivoli next week. The merry opera has never been better done in this city, the cast and mounting being almost perfect. Caro Roma has scored tremendously by her artistic singing of the role of Katsusha. She is a finished artist in a vocal way, and is one of the best of character actresses. Webb is a splendid Ko Ko, and Herbert is a brilliant electrical effects. Cunningham sings the fine music of Pooh Bah in good style, and the three little maids, Bertha Davis, Annie Myers and Frances Gibson are an alluring trio. Special new scenery adds greatly to the attractiveness of the opera. It will run this week and the next.

"DANGERS OF PARIS" AT THE CENTRAL

The program next week at the Central will be the latest and greatest stage success, "The Dangers of Paris," now playing in its seventh year in England. It has created not only a sensation in that country, but also in France and America, and is totally different from anything else on the stage today. It abounds with stirring and exciting effects and contains a delightful heart story. Among the chief incidents is a picturesque scene in the Latin Quarter, a beautiful view of Paris by moonlight, the famous Exposition buildings, a marvelous escape over the roof tops, a thrilling struggle in mid-air between the hero and the villain, across Paris on telegraph wires, the glass works at Cyr and the Paris furnace, the Seine embankment, the Bull of Death and the great rainstorm scene. New and magnificent scenery has been specially prepared and the cast will include Landers Stevens, George F. Webster, Henry Shumer, Ed. W. Emery, Walter Whipple, Ernest Howell, James Beckwith, Thomas Kelms, Charles J. Stine, George Nicholls, James Harper, Forest Seabury, Eugene Thais Lawton, George Cooper and Oza Wal-drop.

ALCAZAR WILL PRESENT "THE CHRISTIAN"

The program next week at the Alcazar will consist of Hall Caine's wonderful story in dramatic form, "The Christian." The successful plays of the past decade pale into insignificance beside this strange and beautiful drama, written by a powerful novelist, dramatized by him, and produced by a liberal management that prides itself in surprising the public. "The Christian" has made the phenomenal record of having played to over double the average receipts of the representative theaters of the continent. The secret of the success is easily understood. "The Christian" appeals to not only all classes of theatergoers, but those who seldom or ever attend a dramatic performance. Though powerful, the story is strictly moral, and it advises a liberal religion, which is acceptable to all, does not offend any sect or creed. One of the strongest proofs of this offering was in a special matinee given at the Knickerbocker Theater November 3, 1928, it being attended by 330 divines of all the different denominations, many of whom had never before been inside of a theater. For weeks after this memorable performance the management was deluged with letters and personal visits from emnent representatives of the church, all speaking in the highest terms of the beauty of the play, the purity of its lesson and the dignity of the players. These salient points prove why "The Christian" is the greatest melodramatic success of the century. The drama will be magnificently mounted and strongly cast. Ernest Hastings will appear as John Storm, a character for which he possesses every requisite, and in which it may safely be predicted he will score a brilliant success. The new leading lady, Alice Treat Hunt, who is already established as a firm favorite, will have a magnificent opportunity as Clory Quayle. The other roles will be played by George Osbourne, Clifford Dempsey, Frank Bacon, Albert Morrison, Walter Belasco, Calvin Dix, Adele Belgarde, Marie Howe, Agnes Ranken and the other members of the Alcazar Stock Company. February 2 "Peaceful Valley" will be produced.

"WIDOW GOLDSTEIN" AT THE DEWEY THEATER.

"Widow Goldstein" is to be presented at the Dewey Theater next week. In conformity with his determination to bring the Dewey Stock Company up to the highest point of perfection, Manager Chapman has made still further additions of talent. Frank Conley, the well-known actor, and manager, has been secured with his clever wife, known on the stage as Gladys Kingsbury, and the piece will be given under his personal direction. Frank Conley and Gladys Kingsbury will take prominent parts in the play, and the success of the last two weeks, Harrington Reynolds will also remain with the company.

The "Widow Goldstein" is a very clever farce comedy—a roarer. Max Stabile has been entrusted with the part of the Dutchman, which seems to come very natural to him, and it is predicted that he will score a big success. All the clever people of the stock company, including Frank Fanning, Nina Melville, Adelaide Laird, Alice Condon, Dona Ben-rimo, Lois Henry, Edward Clisby, Bob Lawrence and George Connors will appear in the cast, and a week of great success is thereby assured.

NEW HOSPITAL CARS FOR THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC.

First Aids for the Injured—Pension System Not Settled—Yards Notes and Personal Mention About the Workers.

The Southern Pacific Company is soon to order the construction of what is known as hospital cars. That is, cars provided with the first aid necessities and appliances for the care of the injured. The cars will be fitted out under the supervision of Dr. M. Gardner, chief surgeon of the Southern Pacific Company, just as soon as the official returns from the East.

It is partly due to the recent number of wrecks that the Southern Pacific Company has decided to install the hospital cars, for, as a rule, medical aid is not readily obtainable. The hospital cars will be stationed in the several divisions of the company and will be fully equipped with all of the necessary surgical instruments and medicines to meet any emergency that may occur. The cars will be held ready to be rushed to the scene of the accident at a moment's notice.

Accidents are bound to occur on any railroad no matter how well regulated, but the Southern Pacific Company has determined to do all in their power to keep the death list on their lines down to a minimum. The installation of the hospital cars is a very creditable step on their part and will be welcomed by the employees and patrons of the road.

Heretofore it has been the custom when a wreck was reported where one or more deaths were reported, to rush a special car containing physicians and what facilities they could gather together, to the scene of the accident. Many times the lack of proper accommodations has been the cause of loss of life because operation had to be postponed until the patient could be removed to a more suitable place. With the new cars, however, operation tables will be provided just to meet such an emergency.

At the present time all of the overland trains are provided with complete medical chests, instruments and other appliances in case of accident. At the West Oakland yards there is a department where these slightly injured persons are kept temporarily. Here the company have stretchers, crutches and medicines and bandages, all for the purpose of affording relief to those in its employ who become injured.

But the installation of the hospital cars is considered the most unselfish move on the part of the company and many lives will be saved thereby.

PENSION SYSTEM REMAINS IN A COMATOSE STATE

It is now almost a month since the pension system inaugurated by the Board of Directors of the Southern Pacific Company was supposed to have gone into effect. Thus far there has been no official notification at the West Oakland yards that there is such a system in existence.

But it is pretty thoroughly understood that the rest of the high officials of the Southern Pacific Company are waiting the return of Jules Kruttschnitt, who is at the head of the Board of Pensioners, and Chief Surgeon Gardner, who is also a member of the Pension Board and before whom applicants will have to go to be examined as to their physical qualifications.

Dr. Gardner is in Washington, D. C., in attendance on the plague hearing, while Jules Kruttschnitt is in the East.

NEW SEWER SYSTEM AT WEST OAKLAND YARDS.

The Southern Pacific Company will soon commence the construction of a complete new sewer system at the West Oakland yards. The present sewerage facilities are totally inadequate to carry away the large volume of water and waste material that is daily used at the shop and yards. Gallons of water are used to clean out the passenger cars in the car cleaning department and in the round house, a large quantity of water is also used. There will be a huge main running across the yard and into the bay and from this main will be laid smaller pipes, connecting with the different departments. The sewer system in the round house is already being constructed and it is expected that in a few weeks work on the entire construction will be commenced.

PORTLAND MEETING OF RAILWAY CLUB.

The regular monthly meeting of the Pacific Coast Railway Club was held in the Portland Commercial Club rooms at Portland, Oregon, on January 17th. A delegation of twenty-three members from Oakland, Sacramento, San Francisco, Ashland, Oregon, and Dunsmuir, were in attendance.

Upon the arrival of the club at Portland the members were met by the club and the arrangements in hand. A trip to the Southern Pacific and the O. R. & N. railroad shops, together with an excursion over the line of the program on Saturday. The meeting of the club was held Saturday evening, after which a banquet was given to the members and visitors present.

Sunday morning the special car was occupied by the club members, together with a private car, was attached to the O. R. & N. train and taken to Cascade locks and return. This completed the program for the day and the club left Portland that evening for a most enjoyable trip.

The members who attended the meeting were: W. H. Russell, president; C. E. Borton, secretary; W. E. Amant, J. H. Steiger, C. M. Mendenhall, Pittsburg, Pa.; W. H. Sheasby, H. H. Hale, George Dodson, C. G. Pearl, C. Adams, F. D. Beal, W. J. Thomas, C. W. Hatch, H. P. Phil, C. H. Miller, J. B. Myrick, W. R. Lips, H. Wells, Oregon; A. Foster, P. J. Flynn, R. Alken, F. A. Sugden, L. W. Estes, G. A. Knoblanck, Ashland, Oregon.

MANY APPLY FOR WORK AT WEST OAKLAND YARDS.

Any quantity of men of late have applied to the officials at the West Oakland yards for work, and about all have to be turned away for the fact that the several departments are all supplied with the kind of labor the men offer. It is estimated that on an average of about a dozen men apply every day for positions of some kind. Most of them are looking for work in the machine shops, while quite a number are after positions as firemen. The applications of the latter are always refused for the fact that on this division a man is never put straight into the job of a fireman, but graduated from the ranks of an engine wiper.

CONSIGNMENT OF OIL ARRIVES FOR GAS PLANT.

A big consignment of oil arrived at the West Oakland yards yesterday. The oil is to be used for the manufacture of gas at the plant stationed at the yards. The consignment consisted of six cars, each containing about fifty thousand gallons of oil. The oil came from the wells located in Fresno county.

NOTABLE LOCOMOTIVE IN SHOPS FOR REPAIRS.

Locomotive No. 1002, perhaps the oldest switch engine operated on the lines of the Southern Pacific Company, is in the shops for repairs. This locomotive is at present used for switching purposes at South Vallejo, but in the early days drew the trains containing some of the notables that came to this coast. Although being in almost constant use for many years, the locomotive has never participated in any serious wreck, which perhaps partly accounts for the fact that but few repairs have been made upon her. After being altered in the shops here she will be sent back to South Vallejo to do the switching, and the company expects to get many years more service out of her before the scrap pile claims her remains.

NUMBER OF EMPLOYEES WILL ATTEND RAILWAY BALL.

A number of the employees at the West Oakland yards have signified their intention of attending the ball to be given by the Brotherhood of Railway Employees at Sacramento next Wednesday evening. The affair is to be a grand success, as the membership of the Sacramento organization numbers about 1800 men, and all are working hard. George Estes, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Employees, will be present, and accompanying him will be other officials high in the order.

OIL EXTENSIVELY USED AT SACRAMENTO SHOPS.

Oil is the fuel that is being generally used by the Southern Pacific Company in their shops at Sacramento, and it will be but a little time when it will have entirely supplanted coal. It is used altogether in the blacksmith shop, and it has been found to give a much stronger heat than coal. In the bolt department oil is used. The principal objection to oil seems to be that the draft of compressed air that forces the fire makes too much use of it. A comparison shows that the use of oil in the Sacramento shops has proven economical, but the amount of work turned out is not increased.

CAT IS THE MASCOT AT WEST OAKLAND YARDS.

A huge black cat, weighing sixteen and one-half pounds, and named Don, is the mascot at the West Oakland railroad yards. Don has been in the yards for the past several years, and is known to nearly every employee there. Don was born on the rocks west of the yards. His mother was brought from the East by the Pennsylvania Volunteers. When a young cat Don was frightfully crippled, but under the care of Dr. Muir, of the West Oakland yards, he was carefully nursed back into his healthy form, and now he is one of the largest of his species. Don will not let anyone take hold of him, and if the attempt is made he will scratch and bite. Another peculiar trait of Don is that he will always come when a certain whistle is given. Don's headquarters are in the store-room, which he keeps thoroughly cleared of rats and mice.

PASSENGER TRAFFIC STEADILY INCREASING.

The passenger traffic on the Southern Pacific lines is steadily increasing until now every car and passenger locomotive is in use. In fact, freight engines have to be pressed into service to accommodate the demand. It is estimated that the passenger business of the Southern Pacific has increased 25 per cent within the last six months. This result is found by the fact that not a car or locomotive is idle that can be safely placed on the rails.

NOTES AND PERSONALS GATHERED ABOUT THE YARDS.

George Lamb, of the material gang, is confined to his home by a slight illness. J. J. Dignan, captain of the machinists baseball team, is reported to be on the sick list. John Robertson is compelled to lay off from work on account of a piece of steel becoming lodged in one of his eyes. P. J. Flynn has returned from the meeting of the Pacific Coast railway club at Portland, and has left for a two weeks' vacation at El Paso. Foreman F. D. Williams went to Port Costa yesterday to superintend the alterations that are being made on the Solano. J. Robertson, a blacksmith helper, visited the shops yesterday. He is rapidly recovering from an attack of rheumatism, and will soon return to work.

Jim Yost, who has been taking a week's lay-off on account of sickness, is back at work again.

Walter Teague, the popular clerk under Master Mechanic Russell, will be married to-night in Portland.

This has been a very busy week in the milling department. The timbers for the large building at the yards are being saved out.

Work on the huge oil boiler for the ferry Oakland is being hurried and the boiler will be ready by the last of next week.

W. S. Palmer, F. F. Lloyd, B. A. Worthington and D. Burkhalter, officials of the Southern Pacific Company, are inspecting the Western division.

James Duffy, a gang foreman, is laid up with a bad scalp wound caused by falling off a flat car.

There was no work done yesterday on the car float being built at the ship yards on account of the rainy weather. Dan Keefe will have to submit to an amputation of his foot in order to prevent blood poisoning. He was injured in an accident some time ago.

Pete Clark, of the material gang, is on the sick list.

G. Long, employed at the Sacramento shops, lost three fingers by his hand coming in contact with a buzz saw, recently.

Foreman W. Sheldon, of the carpenter gang, is very busy working on the new pile driver.

William Creigh, formerly on the Tracy switch engine, is now stationed at West Oakland. He gained forty pounds while at Tracy.

The school of instruction for the firemen and brakemen, installed at the yards, is monthly turning out competent employees.

The creosote plant is still compelled to work day and night to fill the orders for creosoted ties.

About fifteen of the employees at the shops attend the night school recently started for instruction in mechanical drawing.

Chick Cooper and Gassle Rudech are planning to go duck hunting to-morrow.

Frank Merrill, the operator who was badly cut by the band saw in the ship department, is reported to be getting along nicely, but it will be several weeks before he will be able to attend to his duties.

Foreman Robert Yates, of the shops, will visit the sick at the railroad hospital to-morrow.

BOTTOM DROPPED OUT SALT LAKE TRESTLE.

The Southern Pacific Company is having considerable difficulty in building the trestle across thirty miles of Salt Lake for the reason that hundreds of car loads of rock have been dumped into the lake about twenty miles from the shore, but has failed to furnish a foundation for the trestle. It is the opinion of some of the engineers in charge of the work that the Lake at that point has no bottom, but the dumping process is being continued with the hopes that the depth will be finally reached.

ELEVEN LOCOMOTIVES IN THE REPAIR SHOPS.

There are just eleven locomotives in the repair shops at West Oakland this week. They are: 1263, 1210, 1263, 2122, 2920, 2216, 1353, 2089, 1418, 1505, 2135.

PAY CAR VISIT YARDS YESTERDAY MORNING.

The pay car made its regular monthly visit to the West Oakland yards yesterday morning, and the hearts of about two thousand five hundred employees were made glad thereby. The pay car made its appearance a day before it was expected, but was none the less welcome. About noon yesterday the employees of the Sacramento shops where the employees were paid.

REMARKABLE SUCCESS Of a New Catarrh Cure.

A large and constantly increasing majority of the American people are catarrh sufferers. This is not entirely the result of our changeable climate, but because modern investigation has clearly proven that many diseases known by other names, are really catarrh. Formerly the name catarrh was applied almost exclusively to the common nasal catarrh, but the throat, stomach, liver, bladder, kidneys and intestines are subject to catarrhal diseases as well as the nasal passages.

In fact, wherever there is mucous membrane there is a feeding ground for catarrh. The usual remedies, inhalers, sprays, douches, or powders, have been practically failures, as far as anything more than temporary relief was concerned, because they simply dry up the mucous secretions, without having the remotest effect upon the blood and liver, which are the real sources of catarrhal diseases.

It has been known for some years that the radical cure of catarrh could never come from local applications, but from an internal remedy, acting on the blood and expelling the catarrhal poison from the system.

A new internal preparation which has been on the market only a short time, has met with remarkable success as a genuine, radical cure for catarrh. It may be found in any drug store under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, a large pleasant tasting lozenge, composed principally of antiseptic ingredients. Blood root, Red gum and similar catarrh specifics.

Dr. Ainslie in speaking of the new catarrh cure says: "I have tried the new catarrh remedy, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, upon thirty or forty patients with remarkably satisfactory results. They clear the head and throat more effectively and lastingly than any douche or inhaler that I have ever seen, although they are what is called a patent medicine and sold by druggists, I do not hesitate to recommend them as I know them to be free from cocaine and opiates, and that even a little child may use them with entire safety."

A sufferer from nasal catarrh, throat or bronchial trouble, catarrh of the stomach, liver or bladder will find Stuart's Catarrh Tablets remarkably effective, pleasant and convenient, and your druggist will tell you they are absolutely free from any injurious drug.

ENDEAVORERS ARE THEY ALL DEMAND IT BUSY.

PLANNING FOR BIG CONVENTION AND OTHER EVENTS.

(Edited by Miss Lillian Cushing.)

On Friday evening, February 13th, at the Y. M. C. A., Oakland a concert will be given by the Menzies Quartette, for the benefit of the Coffee Club work. The quartette consists of highly recommended and includes first personnel "Knox," the great impersonator. They sing especially in the interest of temperance work, and that is what the Coffee Club Association is seeking to do; to make the club rooms more attractive than the saloon, to the young men of Oakland. It is the intention to partly refurbish the rooms and provide new games with the funds obtained from this concert. Tickets are on sale at the Y. M. C. A.

A reception to the Berkeley City Union officers will be given at the First Presbyterian Church of Berkeley on Friday evening, January 23d. All Endeavorers are cordially invited. Rev. Work, the new pastor of the Presbyterian Church will give an address.

The Alameda County Executive Committee, which is composed of delegates from all the Endeavor societies in the county, held their regular monthly meeting at the Y. M. C. A. on Monday evening. This being the last meeting of the term, new officers were to be elected. During the year, the union has had a very efficient president and vice president; in fact, all the officers and committees have done well. Some of them have been asked to serve again. The election resulted as follows: President, W. M. Bird, (re-elected), first vice president, H. E. Keifer (re-elected); second vice president, Dr. Durham; third vice president, Byron Henderson; recording secretary, Maud Howard; corresponding secretary, Bessy Sprague; treasurer, W. N. Jenkins (re-elected).

A picnic committee has been appointed by the County Executive to arrange for the usual summer outing of the Endeavorers. Those who went to Sunset Park last year will be glad to know that another good time is being arranged for.

The Endeavorers of Oakland are planning to have a share in the new Y. M. C. A. building.

It is requested that the following message from President Theodore Roosevelt, be read in connection with the celebration of Christian Endeavor Day, Sunday, February 1st, 1903:

"Young People's Societies of Christian Endeavor: I greet you and wish you well. Your body stands prominent among the organizations which strive toward a realization of interdenominational and inter-Christian fellowship, and as among those which stand for ideals of true citizenship; that is, for the cultivation, not alone of a high standard of civic and social righteousness, but of the strength, courage, and common sense of the people, and the use of such a standard. With all good wishes."

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT." At the hour of the basket lunch, a good time is promised, (the coming convention at Berkeley, Feb. 1st, 1903).

William Alexander will make a splendid toast master and there are to be about twelve sparkling, jolly toasts given. Do not miss this good time. Endeavorers and friends.

Part of the music for the convention will be furnished by the Presbyterian Orchestra. There will be some good solos by Dr. Dean, Mrs. Whitehead and others.

Immediately at the close of the County Union meeting, the "Good Citizenship and Christian Endeavor" club will meet of the men present, to discuss matters pertaining to the coming primaries.

The Tenth Avenue Baptist Christian Endeavor has elected the following officers: President, Frank C. Tarr, 909 Tenth street; vice-president, Miss Maud Howard; recording secretary, James W. Pierce; corresponding secretary, Miss Ada Sill.

At the home of the members of this society and their friends enjoyed a "snow ball" social at the home of Miss Louise Durkee. A novel feature of the evening, was the mimic snow ball battle. The young ladies and gentlemen were separated in two rooms with folding doors between, and unknown to the gentlemen, the ladies were provided with several cotton balls and when the doors were opened began the battle. Of course the balls were regaled with lively fun besides dispelling any stiffness or formality that might be felt.

A short program of music was also enjoyed and several fine games were played by the large company assembled.

Are You Going to send for your friends in the East? If so, you can deposit your money now at the "Overland Ticket" office of the Southern Pacific Co., 468 Tenth street. The following rates will be in effect from February 15 to April 30: From Chicago, $32; St. Louis, $30; New Orleans and Memphis, $30; Omaha, Kansas City and Missouri river points, $25.

THEY ALL DEMAND IT

Oakland, Like Every City and Town in the Union, Receives It.

People with kidney ills want to be cured. When one suffers the torture of an aching back, relief is eagerly sought for. There are many remedies today that relieve but do not cure. Here is evidence to prove that Doan's Kidney Pills cure, and the cure is lasting.

E. M. Fraser, with the Harbor Commission, residence 2220 Dupont avenue, Berkeley, says: "If I had not been positively certain that Doan's Kidney Pills were doing me good, I never would have returned to the Owl Drug Co.'s store and bought a second box. The dull aching in my back was just the common ordinary form of pain in and around the kidneys, never severe enough to lay a man up, but recurring at intervals frequent enough and annoying enough to cause considerable discomfort. Doan's Kidney Pills positively stopped the aching back and since then I have made more than one of my friends and acquaintances aware of this fact, for I think a remedy which can be depended upon should be known to everybody."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and get no substitute.

Livingston is an old offender. He has served several terms in the city prison, county jail and San Quentin. He was discharged from the latter place on the 20th of last October. He had just completed a sentence for burglary. He is known to the police as a very He is known to the police as a clever one. In the Police Court he pleaded guilty and will be sentenced on January 26th.

HOW TO AVOID THE WORN DOWN HEEL

EXERCISE

PACH BROS.

If you are like the majority of women you know what it is to suffer from the worn-down heel. It is no exaggeration to say that nine-tenths of men and women are subject to this annoyance. To the woman of moderate means who tries to keep herself always looking well-gowned there is, perhaps, no feature of her dress which is so troublesome as the heels of her boots. Many a pair of shoes is crooked and ruined after one month of use, and shoes which are not trim and shapely will spoil the appearance of any costume. Therefore it is that those who can afford it send their shoes back to the dealers at regular intervals to have them straightened and the heels renewed, while other women try rubber heels or use those little iron crescent which are noisy when new and dangerous when they wear smooth.

TO ACQUIRE POISE

When the weight of the body is upon the balls of the feet the spine is relieved of all strain, and a woman so poised can stand for half a day without tiring, and to her walking will become a pleasure. With the body in this position every part will do its proper work, and there will be no tenacity or friction, such as exists when we are putting our various muscles to uses for which they are not intended. If at first, in standing properly poised, the muscles of the legs tire, this is because they are now receiving the strain of standing, instead of the hips, and are not yet accustomed to their natural use, also because they are being held too tense. In order to rest, do not stand first upon one hip and then upon the other, which throws the body out of poise at once and is injurious in many ways. Rise on the toes once or twice or bend the knees several times. This will re-her shoulders low and let every muscle in her body be perfectly relaxed. Then she should make her spine perfectly straight through its entire length, taking special care that it does not break in at the waist and is not bent backward at the neck. Now, without altering the position of spine or shoulders in the least, she should lean forward from the hips until the chest is on a line with the tips of the toes. The chest should be raised, but every part of the body must remain relaxed and natural. At once it will be noticed that the weight of the body is upon the balls of the feet, instead of on the heels. This is as it ought to be.

weak ankles. Another is the habit women have of turning in their toes as they mount steps, under the impression that it makes the climbing easier. Nothing should be more carefully guarded against in every way than a weak ankle. Unless it is strong and flexible and the step sure correct walking and a graceful carriage will be out of the question. For strengthening weak ankles a good exercise may be practiced while sitting down with the shoes off. Holding up one foot at a time, the ankle should be rotated, making the toe describe a circle in the air. This should be practiced every day, each time stopping as soon as, and not before, the muscles exercised grow tired. This rule applies to all other physical exercise.

To raise upon the toes, poise the body there an instant, and then slowly descend to the heels is an excellent exercise for strengthening the ankles and also for gaining the perfect balance of the body. A more difficult form of this exercise is to poise first upon the toes and then to sway backward upon the heels. To sway the body in a circle, rotating the ankles without moving the feet, as before described, is another exercise which is strengthening as well as grace giving.

Perfect control of the hip and knee movements is also an important feature of proper walking. For the hip, a good exercise is to balance the weight upon the ball of the foot only, while the other is stretched back, and at the same time the body is thrown forward from the hips as far as possible. If at first this is difficult of accomplishment the body may be steadied by resting one hand upon the back of a chair.

It is hard to overestimate the importance of knee motion in walking. Few persons use their knees enough. They hold the leg stiff and move forward from the hip as though there was no joint in the knee at all. In mounting stairs, especially, they are apt to raise themselves entirely from the hip. If they would let their knees do all the work stair-climbing would not tire them in the least. In walking the knee should be loose and natural, bending slightly at every step.

To make the knees supple and strong a good practice is to stand with the weight upon the ball of one foot, raising the other slightly, and then bend the knee which is supporting the body up and down, trying to balance the body upon it as long as possible. No certain length of step can be prescribed in walking, since this will depend upon the stature of each individual. A short step will be as ungraceful in a tall woman as will a long stride in a small one. The motion should always be that of an easy glide forward. When the art of walking is perfectly acquired the body will move forward smoothly along a single line, with no twitching or jerking. A woman should feel that if she were moving along in water her shoulders in passing through it would not ripple the surface in the slightest, but would leave only a smooth trail behind. This result will never be gained by trying to hold the body still, but only in relaxing every muscle, and in learning to perfectly control every movement of the hip, knee and ankle.

Dressing Well On Seventy-Five Dollars A Year.

A woman employed in a shop or an office has a duty toward her employer in the matter of being correctly garbed as well as to herself, and as she is expected to devote her best energies to the business of the person from whom she is accepting remuneration for her services, it is clear that after 10 hours' work daily she should rest as much as possible and therefore cannot expect to do any sewing other than that necessary to keep her wardrobe in repair and will not be able to economize by making even the simplest articles of dress with her own hands. Many women who earn good salaries often are obliged to curtail their personal expenses because there are others dependent upon them, and the first item to be cut down almost invariably is that of clothing. If a woman must live at the rate of $8 a week, she cannot afford to devote more than $1.50 of that amount to dress. Given an annual allowance of $75 for clothing, how can she so expend that sum as to be always suitably garbed to fill a position in a first-class business house?

Let us first consider the gown in which she is most frequently seen. There are practically eight months of the year during which a wrap of some description is necessary, and to the business woman the ready-made suit is a blessing, not only because it is less expensive than the custom-made gown, but because of the saving of time as well, for all her shopping must be accomplished during the limited hour or, if the shopper be employed in a downtown establishment, before 9 o'clock in the morning. Therefore, the woman who heeds Benjamin Franklin's maxim: "There is economy of time as well as of money," makes a point of reading the advertisements until she finds described among them a line of ready-made suits which answers her requirements and is within the limits of her income. If she is of ordinary size, there will be no difficulty in used for daily wear during its first season, but for the street, outside of business hours. A visit to the theater or an occasional call is usually the extent of evening dissipation that a tired business woman cares to indulge in, and if with this gown she wears a cuff or mouseline de sole waist, either white or of the same shade as the gown, she is as well dressed as her friends will expect her to be, for the woman who has brains enough to make a living for herself also should possess sufficient good sense to appreciate the absurdity of attempting extravagant dressing.

The rainy day skirt doubtless was invented by some woman who had struggled with long, unmanageable skirts in stormy weather. When making this purchase it is well to choose a skirt as nearly as possible like the street suit in color, so that one coat may serve for both skirts.

For ordinary wear the year round cotton shirtwaists are best, and preferably dark ones, for the moment a light-colored waist becomes in the slightest degree soiled that moment it is one of the most untidy-looking garments ever worn by women. Three of percale or heavy linen and three of lawn will stand 12 months of constant use and enable their owner to look dainty six days in the week.

For occasions when the cloth gown is unsuitable there may be a more elaborate costume. Nun's veiling, chulle and many of the lightweight woollen materials can be purchased for 50 cents a yard. They are wide, six yards being sufficient to make a stylish frock, while a little silk and lace of the same shade or of a contrasting color are effective procuring a satisfactory costume, but if she is stout or undersized the task will be an arduous one for both clerk and customer. It is not a bad plan frankly to state the purpose for which the dress is needed, and the largest sum to be expended for it, then if the saleswoman is of the right sort—and she usually is—she will find either a sample suit or one which for some reason is a good bargain, and the customer not infrequently gets more than her money's worth. A cheviot, serge or Venetian cloth of good cut, neatly made and lined throughout, so that it will be quite warm enough for even cold weather can be obtained for $15. This is not to be trimmings. Every business woman appreciates the hour when she reaches home and is at liberty to exchange her office dress for a wrap or matinee, and these are now advertised at such low prices that the merchants, apparently, are offering them as presents to the feminine public, for $2.50 buys a prettily trimmed and neatly made garment of this kind.

The wise woman does not burn the candle at both ends by sitting up at night to make elaborate lingerie, but purchases the kind known as "ladies' knitted underwear" and tries to be satisfied therewith. Of course, it is ugly and an offense to the esthetic taste possessed to a greater or less degree by every woman, but it is inexpensive, wears indefinitely and reduces that weekly bugbear, the laundry bill. So she puts aside $10 for two saten petticoats, eight pairs of stockings and four sets of lingerie, and then turns her thoughts to more important details.

What a pity that Eve lived before the days of bonnets, though there are women who wish they had never been invented. Given a slender purse and a feminine love of the beautiful, as commonly exemplified in those creations of lace, feathers and silk known as hats, it is almost impossible to induce these two extremes to meet. One way to solve the problem is to cut out the lace and feathers and adhere to ribbons and stiff wings, for these have at least a distinctive style and withstand the most ill-natured weather. Two pairs of thick walking boots of a material that is susceptible to a treatment of vaseline and shoe polish are the most practical, while another pair of finer material should be provided for extremely warm weather.

For ordinary wear two pairs of doeklin gloves, at $1 a pair, and two of washable cotton, at 50 cents a pair, are sufficient, while an excellent quality of glove kid can be procured at $1.25. Obviously delicate shades are not a wise choice, but neither is black to be recommended, as the finger tips quickly become shabby and thus spoil the whole appearance of the glove.

The following list shows in detail how the $75 is expended:

Cloth suit	$15.00
Rainy day skirt	5.00
Nun's veiling frock	5.00
Fancy separate waist	5.00
Six shirtwaists	6.00
Lingerie	10.00
Shoes	10.00
Hats	6.00
Gloves	5.50
Wrappery	2.50
Total	$75.00

Southern Mince-meat.

Boil four pounds of lean beef until tender; let it stand over night to get thoroughly cold. Pick the gristle and stringy bits from the meat and chop fine. Two pounds sweet, minced; three pounds raisins, stemmed and cut up; three pounds currants; one pound citron, sliced thin; four quarts tart cooking apples, chopped fine; two tablespoonfuls cinnamon, one tablespoonful cloves, one tablespoonful ginger, one tablespoonful nutmeg, grated; rind and juice of two lemons, rind of one orange and juice of three, one pint good elder, one pound brown sugar, one teaspoonful salt. If you have any juice of sweet pickle, add it. Set pan on range and heat hot. Pack in stone jars. Add brandy to taste.

TO PROMOTE HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

BY ELIA ADELIA FLETCHER.

At this season of the year women need to be cautioned against burning the candle at both ends. The stress of the holiday rush was no sooner over than, with an earnestness that bode good for the cardinal points of the compass, overlapping engagements were made that crowd woman's lives with exhausting excitement.

What, with social, musical, theatrical and philanthropic interests it requires the exercise not only of a fine self-restraint, but also of rare discrimination to so choose between the multiplicity of pleasures offered as to reap enjoyment or profit from the embarrassment of riches. The unfortunate majority, lacking that moral fiber required for the seeming self-denial of limiting their pleasures, elect to go the whole pace. The result is not that Lent or, at latest, spring brings so many nervous and physical breakdowns, but that the number is not trebled. It is woman's besetting sin to overdo. While a minority is constrained to a ruinous by high pressure life by circumstances, most of the culprits are voluntary ones. They are free agents in the ordering of their lives, but so bitten by the mania for excitement that they are completely in its thrall.

As there are chloroform fiends, so are there club and bridge whist fiends. In both cases, what was primarily intended as a benefit is perverted by abuse into an unmitigated evil. Warren.—The claim that the skin has no function but to maintain bodily temperature is a comparatively recent error. For every 13 grains of water (in form of vapor) which pass out from the lungs 18 grains pass through the skin, or about, and the reason one feels such oppression when humidity tries to break the record is that this water, constantly excreted by the skin, cannot evaporate in the moist air, and so chokes the minute orifices. The skin is thus stifling, for it needs air only less than the lungs.

It is easier to err by bathing infrequently than to bathe too often. Very grave diseases are caused by neglect of skin cleanliness. In cases of kidney disorders—sometimes also in mental disturbances—great relief is afforded by such stimulation of perspiration as will enable the skin to double its normal eliminative work. When the daily cleansing bath does harm it is because either the temperature or the time when taken is not adapted to the constitution and habits. Bryn Mawr.—The lotion about which you inquire owes its cosmetic virtue to arsenic. The pure preparation has a whitening, softening and refining effect upon the skin, but imitations of it, carelessly compounded, are mischievous. Eau de rose minerals is another name for the same thing, and this is the formula:

ARSENICAL COSMETIC LOTION.

Arsenious acid (finely powdered)... 4 grains.
Pure rose water..... 1 ounce.
Glycerine..... 1 ounce.
Distilled water..... ½ pint.

Heat the water to the boiling point, then pour it over the arsenic in an earthen bowl; stir until dissolved with an ivory or glass rod. No metal should touch the solution. After settling, when perfectly cold, pour off the clear liquid, being careful not to disturb any sediment or undissolved portion of the acid, which must be thrown away. See that the bowl is cleaned with scrupulous care. Add the rose water and glycerine to the clear solution and when thoroughly mingled by agitation add sufficient cold soft or distilled water to measure one pint. For daily use keep out only a small bottle of the lotion. It is safer to bottle the whole in small bottles, closely corked, and marked "Poison." This lotion is harmless for external use.

Never take arsenic in any form internally unless under the advice of the family physician. Cora V.—With proper diet and exercise a young woman of 25 even can increase her stature. You can certainly develop your form to all the roundness you desire. Your manner of living and thinking—hours of sitting in a close room, and mental discouragement, are enough to cause a torpid liver, gastric trouble and a sluggish circulation. These, with your unhealthful dressing and fear of fresh air, result in a bad complexion, and your expedients to cover it have aggravated the trouble. The diet advised for "Yonkers" in a recent issue, suits your condition, only it need not be quite so abstemious. You may add clear soups and more fruits, dates, figs, prunes and apples. If for two weeks you would eat one shad-dock and a half dozen oranges daily you would see a change for the better in the color of your skin. Exercise is imperative. Walk every day when weather permits, and open your windows at night. For your skin use the lotion the formula of which is given above to "Bryn Mawr."

M. F. R.—A fine shampoo for your hair is an egg beaten in three tablespoonfuls of slightly warmed red wine with a pinch of soda in it. Bath egg and wine are tonic foods for the hair. If you braid the long hair loosely it will help to keep it from tangling, and it will be more easily piled on top of the head, where it can be thoroughly wet with the shampoo fluid. This, after thorough massage, should be left for 10 minutes to be absorbed by scalp and hair before rinsing. A pinch of carbonate of potash in the last rinsing water will, if you rumple the hair lightly, instead of brushing it smooth, make it slightly wavy.

The New "Louis" Heels.

The Way Most Persons Step Out.

under the balls of the feet and merely the slightest roundness to the edges of the first pair of heels. To learn to walk in such a way as to produce this result is really very simple.

In order that the woman who wears down her heels may realize where the trouble lies let her rise to her feet and stand as she is in the habit of doing. If she now directs her attention to her feet she will find that her heels are being made to bear the entire weight of her body. Now, if she extends her foot naturally the toe will, as a matter of course, point upward and the heel down. When she steps forward, bringing her foot to the ground again, the heel touches first, receiving the entire stress of the movement and the weight of her body, as when standing. Small wonder that under these conditions the heel soon gives out.

In order to walk correctly, therefore, it is first necessary to learn to balance the body as we should. Standing with the weight of the body on our heels throws out the entire system of our anatomy, and places the whole strain of either standing or walking upon the spine, weakening it and causing back-ache. This is the reason that so few persons can stand or walk for any length of time without tiring; why the clerks in shops suffer so during working hours, why they shift from one foot to the other in an effort to regain relief. Standing with the weight on the heels also distends the muscles of the abdomen, causing women to become large and unsightly in the abdominal regions as they grow older. It depresses the chest and throws the head into the hollow of the neck in such a manner as to produce a flabby throat. It causes that ugly lump of flesh so often seen at the back of the neck of stout persons. Altogether, it is one of the greatest enemies to health and beauty known.

Most persons when they try to stand straight lean back from the waist, and then shrug the shoulders and hold them rigidly back. This is all wrong. The woman who would acquire the proper poise must hold lux the muscles and bring instant relief. Another excellent way of resting is to sway gently back and forth and from side to side, rotating the body from the ankles without moving the feet. This not only brings relief when standing, but is a splendid exercise for gaining a perfect control and balance of the body.

The woman who masters the art of correct standing has the foundation of correct walking. Her feet should always rest in such a position that the toes will be at an angle of 45 degrees. Toes turned too far out are as prejudicial to grace as toes turned in. Now, she should advance her feet in a perfectly natural manner. As she steps forward the ball of the foot, being the weighted part, will naturally be the lowest. The foot should reach the ground all together, but the weight should be entirely upon the ball, with the heel hardly touching. When practicing walking do not think of the feet. Center the mind upon the chest, which should lead the whole body. See that it is raised, well inflated with lung, deep breathing, and the whole body buoyant. This will keep the body in the proper poise, and the feet will take care of themselves.

If, however, the feet do not place themselves properly upon the ground in walking—if the toes have a tendency to turn in, or if the foot falls too much upon one side, "running over" the shoe and wearing it crooked, it is a sign that the ankles are weak. A woman will lavish thought and trouble upon her face and her hands, which are always to be seen, but is careless of her feet, since these are hidden beneath her skirts. She wears shoes which cramp them and distort their natural beauty, and heels which make the correct placing of the foot an impossibility. What woman can walk naturally in those new "Louis" heels, now so fashionable upon shoes and slippers for house wear? These heels lie actually under the instep, robbing a woman of her natural foot to walk upon.

Such heels are one of the chief causes of
